WEATHER

Cooler temperatures are expected today with the high reading in the mid to upper 70s and the overnight low near 55. Skies will be cloudy with a slight chance of shower activity during the morning hours. The extended forecast through Monday indicates temperatures will not be as warm, but will still average above normal with high readings in the upper 70s and night time low readings in the upper 50s. Shower activity is expected about Monday. Winds today will be west to northwest 20 to 30 mph. Tuesday's 7 a.m. report: high 89; low 64; there was .46 inches of precipitation recorded. The river level was 3.5 feet.

KINZUA DAM REPORT

Pool level 1329.40 feet (desired summer pool level 1328; maximum 1365). Outflow temperature 60 degrees. Upper reservoir 70 degrees. The reading at the Warren gauge 3.52 feet.

WARREN COUNTY

Hundreds attend dedication ceremony for new Sylvania research and engineering building, marking highlight of 25th anniversary of the firm in Warren.

The Vietnam conflict claims the life of a Sugar Grove Marine, Lance Cpl. Frank E. Gregory, while on patrol in Quang Tri province.

County playgrounds, including three new facilities in Pleasant Township, Starbrick and Sugar Grove, open June 19.

Warren borough again faces problems with motorcycles and officials investigate areas of possible crackdowns on cyclists who persist in overstepping the bounds.

THE NATION

Warden reports four armed inmates at Atlanta's U.S. Penitentiary take 23 employees hostage after attempted jailbreak fails and demand newspaper reporter be permitted to hear their grievances.

Gov. Nelson Rockefeller resumes full-scale campaigning for presidency in a speech to the National Press Club, declaring that America needs new leadership.

Sen. Eugene McCarthy will use a news conference Wednesday as a forum for resuming his quest for the Democratic presidential nomination.

Rep. James G. Fulton says Gov. Shafer will endorse Gov. Nelson Rockefeller for the GOP presidential nomination "by this weekend."

A heavily censored report by a Senate subcommittee discloses a shortage of major items of equipment and of personnel in the two U.S. Army divisions in South Korea.

THE WORLD

The systematic bombardment of Saigon causes rising concern to the U.S. Command and among the capital's three million residents.

Enemy rocketing of Saigon disturbs the U.S. negotiating team in the Paris talks. There are signs protests will be registered with the North Vietnamese when talks resume Wednesday.

France's wave of bloody violence claims its fourth victim, a worker shot in a factory battle, while students and workers mass for demonstrations against "police repression."

James Earl Ray is moved to a maximum security prison. Hunting for possible associates, Scotland Yard seeks further clues to his movements before his arrest.

SPORTS

The Philadelphia Phillies have a feud going. It's between Richie Allen, superstar, and Gene Mauch, manager. It seems the manager may be expendable.

Slo-Pitch softball continues to excite interest. City Ice still leads the league, but contenders are moving up.

The Allegheny Outdoor Club continues its schedule of activities. Next on the schedule is a tour of the Tionesta Scenic area next Sunday.

Gene K. Beare, right, president of Sylvania Electric Products Inc., and Dr. Lee L. Davenport, president of General Telephone & Electronics Laboratories Inc., snip a "ribbon of parts" with gold-plated shears to officially open the new research and engineering building of the Sylvania Parts Division, Eugene E. Broker, vice president and general manager of the Parts Division helps steady the ribbon. The ribbon is actually an integrated circuit lead frame to which has been attached a cross-section of parts produced by the division. Dedication of the 115,000-square-foot structure was the highlight of the division's 25th anniversary in Warren which was celebrated today.

Hundreds Attend Dedication Of New Sylvania Building

Dedication of a new research and engineering building highlighted the celebration yesterday of the Parts Division of Sylvania Electric Products Inc., 25th anniversary in Warren.

Speaking to a crowd of several hundred from the steps of the new building, Sylvania President Gene K. Beare emphasized the dependence of almost every operating group in the company on the billions of precision parts produced by the division.

The Parts Division was originally established to supply parts to other Sylvania operations, Beare said, but now "about 70 per cent of the division's sales are made outside Sylvania."

Dr. Lee L. Davenport, president of General Telephone and Electronic Laboratories Inc., gave the dedication speech.

He said the new building would provide better facilities for research and development, room for future growth and improved coordination by concentrating the entire engineering operation in one area.

The new building on Lexington ave. houses the research laboratory, product development, tool and equipment development shops and pilot plant operations of the division.

Constructed of stone, glass and brick, it provides 115,000 square feet of space for the engineering and research departments — more than five times the space occupied by the first Sylvania plant here in 1943.

Davenport and Beare formally opened the new building by jointly snipping a ribbon made of metal and plastic parts produced by the division.

A brief outline of the division's first 25 years was given by Eugene E. Broker, vice president and general manager of the division.

An invocation was given by The Rev. Alan Hearl, pastor of the Bethlehem Covenant Church. Mayor Donald E. Conway spoke briefly.

Attending the ceremonies were community and government leaders, customers, suppliers, employees and company representatives.

Sylvania executives attending the ceremonies included Gerald L. Moran, senior vice president, Sylvania Metals and Chemicals; Frederic J. Cowan, vice president marketing services; George Konkol, vice president, operations, Electronic Tube Division; Everett F. Carter, vice president and general manager, Chemical and Metallurgical Division; and Gordon L. Fullerton, president of Wilbur B. Driver Co., a Sylvania subsidiary.

Immediately following the dedication, the invited guests toured the new engineering and research building and the plastics, wire and weld plants.

Employees, their families and friends toured the facilities from 2 p.m. to 9 p.m.

The parts division began operations in Emporium in 1932. In 1943 Sylvania moved equipment to Warren from the recently purchased Electro Metals Inc. in Cleveland, Ohio. Other equipment was moved from Emporium.

Today the division has four plants in Warren—plastics, wire, weld and equipment development. It also has plants in York, Naugatuck, Conn.; Titusville and Shawnee, Okla.

Sylvania is a subsidiary of General Telephone and Electronic Corp.

Shafer Expected to Endorse Rocky for GOP Nomination

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. James G. Fulton, R-Pa., said Tuesday that Pennsylvania Gov. Raymond Shafer will endorse New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller for the GOP presidential nomination "by this weekend."

In so doing, said Fulton, Shafer "is walking out on his favorite son commitment" made to Pennsylvania's 64 GOP National Convention delegates. Fulton is a strong supporter of former Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

Fulton said an earlier prediction Shafer soon would endorse Rockefeller has come from Pennsylvania's GOP state chairman, Jack Jordan.

He said he asked Shafer about this Monday night at a gathering of convention delegations in Indianopolis, Pa.

"I have no feeling of unfriendliness for Gov. Shafer, but my saying is—thanks for the buggy ride. I'm going to vote for Nixon," Fulton added.

James Earl Ray Transferred To Maximum Security Prison

LONDON (AP) — James Earl Ray was transferred Tuesday to a maximum security cell in a fortress-like Wandsworth Prison and Scotland Yard detectives scoured his London haunts to learn if he had contacts in Britain.

Legal moves were under way to extradite Ray to the United States to stand trial charged with the April 4 sniper slaying of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. Police on both sides of the Atlantic tried to unmask Ray's travels that took him to Canada, Britain and Portugal before his arrest Saturday at London Airport as he prepared to fly to Belgium.

Extradition could take up to two months if the 40-year-old Ray decided to fight it through the British courts. American authorities have obtained a provisional British warrant charging Ray with the murder of King in Memphis, Tenn.

Gov. Buford Ellington of Tennessee has signed "all necessary papers" required for the state's request that Ray be returned for trial, a spokesman for the governor said.

A State Department spokesman in Washington said documents to back up the extradition request had arrived there and "will be transmitted to London shortly." The documents are from Tennessee and from Missouri where Ray was convicted of armed robbery and escaped from prison in 1967 by hiding in a bread truck.

British police held Ray on charges of using a forged passport and carrying a gun. On Scotland Yard's records he is officially listed as Ramon George Sneyd, the name on his Canadian passport.

British detectives were using the passport charge as legal grounds to investigate his movements in London. Although he has been traced to two London hotels between May 28 and his arrest, there was an unexplained gap of about 10 days starting on May 17, when he left Lisbon for London.

FBI agents were understood to be working with Scotland Yard.

Now that Ray has been charged under British law, there is no possibility of Scotland Yard's interrogating him outside a courtroom.

U.S. officials, fearful that prosecution of Ray might be jeopardized, are staying well away from him. They have not questioned Ray.

Fred M. Vinson Jr., an assistant U.S. attorney general, said he "got a glimpse" of Ray but did not speak to him.

Sugar Grove Marine Killed While On Patrol in Vietnam

The Vietnam conflict claimed the life of another Warren County man June 6, when Lance Cpl. Frank E. Gregory, son of Henry and Emma Gregory, R.D. 2, Sugar Grove, was killed by hostile enemy fire while on patrol in the Quang Tri province of Vietnam.

Cpl. Gregory, who was serving with the Company C, 3rd Div., entered the service May 3, 1967. A graduate of Eisenhower High School, class of 1965, he had been serving in Vietnam since December.

Besides his parents, he is survived by four brothers, Harold, in Oregon; Paul, Bear Lake; John, Warren; and Jack, Sugar Grove; and three sisters, Pearl and Flora, in Oregon; and Dorothy, Jamestown, N.Y.

The Schoonover Funeral Home, Sugar Grove, is in charge of funeral arrangements. A more complete obituary and funeral arrangements will be published later.

French Worker Killed In New Outburst Of Violence in Paris

PARIS (AP) — A young French worker was shot dead in a new outburst of violence Tuesday and thousands of students steamed across the Seine River for a test of strength with Paris police that could end in further bloody fighting. The marchers protested against President Charles de Gaulle's regime. Pierre Baylot, 24, a Communist union militant, was killed by a pistol bullet in fighting at the big Peugeot auto works at Soukhaux, near the Swiss frontier 220 miles southeast of Paris. The battle erupted soon after dawn when the Peugeot management called in riot police to assure the right to work of non-strikers. More than 50 persons were injured before that fight ended at dusk.

Students and unions called for a mass demonstration in Paris against "police repression" which they said had caused the death of Baylot and a 17 year old high school student, Gilles Tautin, who drowned in the Seine while fleeing from police Monday at Meulan, 17 miles northwest of Paris.

About 1,500 helmeted police moved in ahead of the students, however, to occupy the assembly point for the demonstration in front of the east railroad station. They began arresting the demonstrators by the score as they showed up.

At one point all available police vans were busy carting youths off to police posts for questioning.

But still the students flowed across the Seine from the Latin Quarter to the right bank.

A girl with long red hair was struggling with a policeman. The crowd hooted and jeered.

The girl kicked the police officer in the shins and fled back into the crowd.

The death of Tautin had set off a fight Monday night between about 1,000 Sorbonne students and police in Paris. Twenty-six persons were injured and 22 were arrested in that hours long riot.

The management of the Renault auto plant at Flins, near the scene of Tautin's drowning, meanwhile, announced the indefinite closing of the plant "because of the repeated activities of uncontrolled elements calling themselves proletarian unionists."

About 700 students stopped a newspaper delivery truck and set fire to bundles of newspapers. The police replied with a volley of tear gas grenades.

Rocketing of Saigon Disturbs Negotiators

PARIS (AP) — The enemy rocketing of Saigon has disturbed the U.S. negotiating team in the Vietnam talks here and there are signs a protest will be laid before the North Vietnamese in the resumption of sessions Wednesday.

The American delegation has protested such attacks in the past and might well do so again, particularly in view of the intensity of the rocket offensive, U.S. informants said.

The eighth confrontation of the U.S. and Hanoi delegations Wednesday can mark a critical point for the talks, now in their fifth week. The atmosphere among Americans is growing gloomier. Hopes for any progress in the immediate future have been waning steadily.

The rocket terror offensive against the South Vietnamese capital raised a number of possibilities for U.S. negotiators to consider.

One is that President Johnson may come under more pressure and end the policy of restraint in the bombing of North Vietnam, a move that could break up this conference.

Also North Vietnam is threatening to step up the war in the South if what it terms the U.S. "blind adventure" continues there.

Another point is whether the American side is going to respond with new action to the fierce daily bombardment of Saigon. If so, that could hang up the talks indefinitely, while the two sides waited to see what the military results might mean at the bargaining table.

In Paris, up to now, there has not been the slightest sign that North Vietnam will budge from its basic demand that the Americans halt all bombing of the North without asking anything in return.

Since President Johnson's declaration of March 31, the Americans bomb only in the panhandle south of the 20th Parallel. But while Hanoi demands an unconditional end to that, too, the North Vietnamese side, far from showing any signs of restraint, is sharply intensifying the war in the South.

Saigon Bombardment Spreads Alarm Among People

SAIGON (AP) — The systematic bombardment of Saigon with Soviet made 122mm rockets caused rising concern Tuesday to the U.S. Command and spread alarm among the three million inhabitants.

After a 30 rocket barrage hit the heart of Saigon early in the morning, killing 19 Vietnamese civilians and wounding 116, more government troops were moved into outlying areas in an effort to halt the bombardments.

Some military sources estimated, however, that at least 100,000 additional troops would be needed to make an effective ring around Saigon. This would require pulling troops in from other battle fronts in South Vietnam.

The U.S. Command disclosed that Maj. Gen. John H. Hay, deputy commander of the U.S. 2nd Field Force, has been assigned as a full time adviser to the Saigon military district to lead a campaign against the rocket attacks.

American sources said Vietnamese and U.S. troops will give high priority to protecting the capital from the shelling.

This will include infantry sweeps of the swampy flatland and rice paddies around Saigon. There will be constant observation from helicopters and planes, harassment and interdiction fire by artillery and use of radar. Despite all this, top military men admit it is virtually impossible to halt the shellings.

U.S. soldiers pitched in to help the rescue work after the morning bombardment.

Rocky Resumes Full-Scale Campaigning for Presidency

WASHINGTON (AP) — America needs new leadership "able to see the nation and the world as they are" and willing to accept the tremendous responsibility of meeting change, Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller said Tuesday.

Resuming full-scale campaigning for the presidency, the New York Republican pitched his speech before a National Press Club audience to the tragedy that removed Sen. Robert F. Kennedy from the list of Democratic aspirants.

Kennedy's assassination, Rockefeller said in one of several references to the event, "removed a strong hand from the torch of liberty."

"Sen. Kennedy gave his life because he had the courage to speak out on the problems and issues that face the American people," Rockefeller said.

"We who remain in the long shadow of this tragedy have a tremendous responsibility to carry on and fulfill the dreams of those who gave their lives for the future of our country."

Rockefeller said he is pressing his own candidacy for the GOP nomination meet of a "tremendous pressure of commitment" to those goals.

He defined them as an end to bigotry, poverty and crime, the creation of opportunity for the poor, the disenchanted and the alienated.

Rockefeller said he senses a mood to accept that challenge and to accept new leadership for it.

"It is to offer this new leadership that I am seeking the presidency of the United States," he said.

In a brief question-and-answer session after the set speech, Rockefeller gave his support to proposals for strengthened gun control laws "to help stop murder and crime and fear."

As to a Senate successor for Kennedy, Rockefeller declined to commit himself in any way except to say the new appointee must be a man "who will represent the goals for which Sen. Kennedy gave his life, and will serve the people of New York as he did."

Rockefeller said he has never been close enough to the presidential nomination to give real thought to selection of a vice presidential running mate.

But he added that such events as the assassination of President John F. Kennedy and later his brother give new importance to the office. "Therefore he must be the best qualified man to step in, and that must be the only consideration for the Republican party."

McCarthy Resumes Quest For Democratic Nomination

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy has decided to use a news conference Wednesday as a forum for resuming his quest for the Democratic presidential nomination one week after the fatal shooting of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy.

Originally, McCarthy had planned to return to campaigning—and his challenge of Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey—with appearances in New York Thursday.

But instead he reportedly accepted the advice of some of his advisers who felt McCarthy should make use of a national forum—such as a news conference or a television talk—to present his views on the future of his presidential campaign rather than simply return to his political schedule.

In addition, McCarthy put his challenge to Humphrey by delegate hunting in the West this weekend after his speeches Thursday in New York.

The Minnesota senator, his aides said, will speak at the Idaho Democratic Convention at Idaho Falls Friday, at the Montana Democratic Convention at Helena Friday night and at the Western States Democratic Conference at Phoenix, Ariz., Saturday.

Humphrey, meanwhile, remains in seclusion at his lakeside home in Waverly, Minn., with what most observers consider to be a virtually unbeatable lead in the number of delegates supporting him for the nominations.

The vice president, an aide said, does not plan to return to Washington for another week, is not granting interviews, and has no scheduled appearances before July 4.

Nixon Wins More Delegates In Ill. Primary

By WILLIAM J. CONWAY
Associated Press Writer
CHICAGO (AP) — Richard M. Nixon gathered up 19 additional Republican convention delegates Tuesday night while Sen. Everett M. Dirksen, GOP leader in the Senate, won nomination for a fourth term with the greatest of ease.

Rep. Barratt O'Hara, at 86 the oldest man in the House, lost his bid for renomination on the Democratic side. He was defeated by Abner J. Mikva, a former state representative and party organization choice, in a four-man and District fight that also involved Wesley South, a Negro radio personality and newsmen.

Other incumbents in Congress won.

Richard B. Ogilvie, 44, who was elected sheriff of Democratic Cook County in 1962 and president of the county board of commissioners in 1966, led the contest for the Republican nomination for governor. He was pitted against John Henry Altorfer, a Peoria industrialist; former governor William G. Stratton, and S. Thomas Sutton, Elmhurst lawyer and foe of open housing.

Returns from 4,158 of the state's 10,677 precincts in the Illinois primary gave Ogilvie 107,966, Altorfer 76,458, Stratton 15,590 and Sutton 11,995.

Auto Mishaps Cause $1,375 In Damages

Three traffic mishaps within the borough Monday resulted in property damages totalling an estimated $1,375, according to borough police.

An accident on Pennsylvania ave. E. near Lewis Market caused approximately $75 damage, police reported, when a car operated by Lois M. Buerkle, 213 Onondaga ave., struck the rear of a parked vehicle owned by Andrew J. McCumber, 2140 W. 22nd st., Erie. The impact forced the McCumber vehicle into a utility pole. Damages to the McCumber car was set at $500, police said, while damage to the Buerkle vehicle was estimated at $75.

Earlier Monday, at 12:55 p.m., a car operated by Mrs. W. E. Lutz, 125 Biddle st., struck the left front of a vehicle operated by Robert Atkins, 1613 Pennsylvania ave. W., causing an estimated $300 damage to each vehicle. According to police the mishap occurred when Lutz, driving east on Fourth ave., attempted to make a "U" turn.

The third mishap, which resulted in property damages totalling $200 occurred at 1:57 p.m. on Locust st. about 250 feet south of Park st. Police reported, Dennis Tome, 28 Maple st., was driving north on Locust st. A girl and a dog stepped into the street. Tome applied his brakes and stopped. Police said a car operated by Terry L. Albaugh, 12 Maple st., following immediately behind the Tome vehicle was unable to get stopped and crashed into the rear of the Tome car. Damage was set at $100 to each vehicle.

Police stated there were no injuries reported in any of the three mishaps.

'Liberty Bell' Manufacturer At Work Again

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The bell that proclaimed America's independence in 1776 came from England in 1752 — cracked. It then was recast in the colonies, but cracked again.

Clamped together and virtually soundless, the bell in historic Independence Hall stands today for the symbol of democratic liberty all over the world.

The British, however, figure it's time to send over a bell that isn't cracked.

The Whitechapel Bell Foundry, which made the original, is now handcrafting 2,400 bells—one for each month of American independence since the original July 4th. The job will cost $1.8 million.

The first in the order was given June 5 by the Lord Mayor of London to the 1968 Miss Liberty Belle, Lida Weiszko, a 24-year-old Ukrainian-born Philadelphia public school teacher. It'll be presented to the city June 27, start of the Freedom Week observance.

Kennedy's Closest Friends Prepare for Inevitable

NEW YORK (AP) — In the fading light of the rolling Virginia countryside seven men gathered on the terrace at Hickory Hill last Wednesday night and prepared for the death of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy.

All had been frequent guests at the Kennedy home in happier times. But now they knew, though the public had not been told, that there was little hope for the life of the senator. A telephone call from Dave Hackett, one of Robert Kennedy's closest friends, had informed them of the seriousness of the wound.

They asked the questions that would have to be asked when Kennedy died in Los Angeles of an assassin's bullet and set into motion the massive preparations for the funeral and burial.

Seated by the pool, where they had all splashed on another day, were John Nolan and Louis Oberdorfer, Washington lawyers; George Stevens Jr.; the Rev. Richard McSorley, a teacher at Georgetown University; John Glenn, the former astronaut; Joseph F. Gargan, the senator's cousin, and Joe Dolan, the senator's administrative assistant.

Glenn took notes and drew up an unofficial outline of what would have to be done.

Later, as the life ebbed from Robert Kennedy in Los Angeles' Good Samaritan Hospital, Nolan and Oberdorfer remained at Hickory Hill after the others had left and went over Glenn's notes. They had the final draft typed out and dictated by telephone to Los Angeles. There the ideas were studied by the Kennedy group and a memo was dictated back.

One of the first questions that had come up was: Could Kennedy be buried at Arlington National Cemetery near the body of his brother, President John F. Kennedy? The man who had selected that site nearly five years ago was Robert S. McNamara, then secretary of defense and now president of the World Bank.

Nolan got on the telephone and traced McNamara to Frankfurt, Germany. McNamara assured him that Kennedy could be buried in Arlington, and within a short time boarded an airplane to return to the United States.

On the West Coast, within an hour after Sen. Kennedy's death, another group of men, numbed by grief and fatigue, huddled on the fifth floor of the Good Samaritan Hospital.

"We all had ideas," Frank Mankiewicz told the New York Post in an interview. "It was not as if he'd been shot five minutes before."

In that group were Stephen Smith, Kennedy's brother-in-law; John Seligenthal, editor of the Nashville Tennessean and former Justice Department aide; Pierre Salinger, former press secretary to President William Boerst Resigns Jamestown Board of Ed.

JAMESTOWN, N.Y.—William W. Boerst, a member of Jamestown Board of Education for four years, resigned Tuesday night. Boerst said he will no longer be a member of the school district since he has purchased a home in the Fluvanna area. His resignation becomes effective July 1, 1968. In accepting Boerst's resignation, board president, E. Milton Johnson, said, a replacement will be selected after July 1 to serve until June 30, 1969.

Reporting on the month long deadlock between the board of education and the Jamestown Teacher's Assn. school supt. Dr. H. L. O'Neill, said, Dr. Joseph Shister, State University of New York, Buffalo, has met twice with both sides. Dr. Shister was appointed as a fact finder by the Public Employees Relations Board when negotiations between the board of education and JTA reached an impasse. Dr. O'Neill said another session between the two groups will be set for Monday. He said the two groups are very far apart in some areas especially salaries. After hearing both sides fully, Dr. Shister will submit recommendations to settle the differences. His report will also be made public knowledge. Johnson said the fact finder's report will in no way be binding in the board of education, but admitted the two sides usually try to accept a fact finder's report.

In other action the board recognized local 1336 of the State County and Municipal Employees, AFL-CIO as the exclusive bargaining agent for food service personnel.

Borough Again Facing Motorcycle Problems

Warren borough is again facing motorcycle problems and officials are investigating areas of possible action to crack down on cyclists who persist in overstepping the bounds.

While the complaints are being received from various sections of the community, the most serious one comes from patients at Warren General Hospital where cyclists have been "buzzing and dragging."

Council may consider posting signs prohibiting motorcycles in the vicinity of the hospital.

Some of the complaints, police stated Tuesday, are not legitimate but added that a great percentage of cyclists alter and tamper with mufflers and create excessive noise. Even motorcycles with standard equipment only are capable of being abused by the operator.

It is suggested that if a resident is continually annoyed by a misused cycle operated by the same person, the license number be secured and police contacted.

Section 323 of the Motor Vehicle Code spells out the law: No person shall operate a motor vehicle, except fire department or fire patrol apparatus, on a highway unless equipped with a muffler, in good working order and in constant operation to prevent excessive and unusual noise.

It is unlawful to use a muffler cutout or a bypass in a muffer. No person may operate a motor vehicle on any highway equipped with a muffler from which the baffles plates, screens or other original internal parts have been removed; or equipped with an exhaust system which has been modified in a manner to amplify or increase the noise emitted by the motor or the muffler originally installed. Persons violating any of these provisions, upon summary conviction are subject to pay a maximum fine of $25 or a maximum 15 days in jail or both.

Section 1041 deals with the prohibition of speed contests or drag racing. It is unlawful for any person to operate a vehicle on any highway in a speed contest, including those commonly known as drag races, whether from a standing start or otherwise over a measured or unmeasured distance, the object of which is to better or defeat one or more contestants on the basis of elapsed time, superior performance or speed.

The penalty for violation of this section is more severe: violations of this section find the person guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction subject to pay a fine of not less than $100 and not more than $500 or to undergo imprisonment for not more than three years, or both.

Police last year successfully cracked down on motorcycle violations and will do so again this year.

Aid To Nonpublic School Bill In Position For Final Vote

HARRISBURG (AP) — The Senate Tuesday moved the aid to nonpublic school bill into position for a final vote, after having defeated an amendment that would have nullified its primary intent.

Republican Majority Leader Stanley G. Stroup said he expected a final vote Wednesday and, while he previously had listed himself among the opposition, speculated: "I think it probably will pass."

Senators on both sides of the aisle predicted the bill would pass with anywhere from two-to-four votes more than the constitutional majority of 26. Democratic legislators anticipated 18 of their 22 colleagues would support the bill. A ranking Republican expected at least 10-to-12 GOP votes for it.

The amendment that would have gutted the bill was offered by Sen. Wayne Ewing, R-Allegheny, and was defeated on a voice vote.

It would have prohibited payment of state funds to "any school in which religious education is required or offered, or which discriminates in any way against or in favor of any sect, race or creed."

The amendment would have excluded Roman Catholic schools, which educate the vast majority of the 650,000 Pennsylvania children who attend private or sectarian schools.

As the nonpublic school bill now stands, it would allocate $4.3 million in harness racing funds to institute, beginning July 1, a program wherein the state would purchase secular education services from non-profit private or sectarian schools.

The aid would be limited to four subjects — modern foreign languages, physical sciences, mathematics and physical education. The pro-rated reimbursement would be determined by the cost of the nonpublic schools for teachers' salaries, textbooks and other instructional aids in the four specified subjects.

The legislation would have harness revenue supplement funds from flat racing until the newly legalized sport brings in $10 million, when it would assume sole financial responsibility. The nonpublic schools also would be awarded 50 per cent of any flat racing excess over $10 million.

The House, meanwhile, postponed action for at least another day on the proposed Susquehanna River Basin Compact. A vote was delayed because the hour ran late and a lengthy debate was anticipated.

The Senate inserted minor amendments into the $1.71 billion general appropriation bill and kept it in position for a final vote.

In other developments: Code of Ethics — The Senate Rules Committee released to the floor an amended version of a House-passed code of ethics bill. The bill is intended to outlaw conflict of interest between legislative duties and personal occupations.

Business — The House voted unanimously to liberalize tax credits for business which invests private capital in community programs such as job training and crime prevention. The measure was sent to the Senate.

Vehicle — Gov. Shafer signed into law a bill setting a $1,000 fine or one year in prison or both for anyone caught throwing a rock, brick, firebomb or other dangerous missile into an occupied vehicle.

Appropriation Bills Must Clear Assembly This Week

HARRISBURG (AP) — House members were warned Tuesday that Gov. Shafer will not approve a proposed salary increase for school teachers unless a package of nine appropriations bills clears the General Assembly this week.

The warning came from Majority Leader Lee A. Donaldson, R-Allegheny, who noted the measures were part of the administration's supplemental budget designed to raise 60 per cent of the $44.7 million needed to finance the increase in the next fiscal year.

"It is the position of the administration that passage of the supplemental budget is absolutely necessary in order to have the money to finance the teacher salary bill," Donaldson said.

House Democrats reacted angrily to the warning and vowed they would not lend votes to the appropriations package until the administration provided more information about the money bills.

"Actually, the bills have nothing to do with the teachers' salaries," said Minority Leader Herbert Fineman, D-Philadelphia. "The governor merely is using this as a club to get the members of the House to approve the appropriations."

The appropriations bills, already passed by the Senate, would authorize the state to contract for various projects, but would provide only enough funds necessary for the initial year of the contracts.

In the past, when the state authorized a contract expenditure, the full appropriation was provided initially whether or not it would be spent immediately.

By resorting to the "buy now, pay later" program, the administration was able to free $27.9 million in funds to meet the more pressing needs of a salary raise for the school teachers.

Donaldson said Friday was the deadline for the governor to sign or veto the teacher salary bill. He said every effort would be made to get the appropriations package to the governor before the deadline.

Without Democratic support, the GOP leader would have to muster 102 of the 104 Republican House members to win passage of the appropriations measures. Indications were he did not have the votes in his own caucus.

"We will run the bills on Wednesday, and if they go down, we will recall them and run them again on Thursday," Donaldson told the House.

Fineman said the Democratic position was subject to change, but only after the administration came forth with information, which he said heretofore has been unavailable.

Texans Choose Favorite Son Candidates

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Texas Democrats selected Gov. John Connally and the state's Republicans named U. S. Sen. John Tower as their favorite son presidential candidates Tuesday.

Each man was given the strong bargaining position he wanted at the national conventions in August.

The Republicans, in convention in Corpus Christi, overruled a protest by backers of California Gov. Ronald Reagan by approving a favorite son resolution putting Texas' 56-vote delegation behind Tower "until released after consultation with the delegation."

In Dallas, overwhelming approval of a unit rule that binds Texas' 104-vote national convention delegation to Connally as long as he likes was the crowning success in the Democratic state convention for Connally forces.

Senate Rules Committee Approves Code of Ethics

HARRISBURG (AP) — The Senate Rules Committee approved and sent to the floor Tuesday a bill to establish a legislative code of ethics.

The bill, which passed the House earlier in the session by a 181-5 vote, received only minor amendments in committee.

Supporters contend the code would improve the public image of the legislature.

Major provisions, applying to legislators and their employees, would:

— Outlaw conflicts of interest between their official positions and personal livelihoods.

— Forbid acceptance of gifts designed to influence legislation.

— Create a permanent ethics committee to investigate charges of unethical conduct.

— Bar participation in business transactions with the state in which the legislator has a substantial personal economic interest.

— Prohibit use of confidential information gained through one's official position to further a personal interest.

The bill carries a maximum $1,000 fine or two years imprisonment for violations, which would be misdemeanors. Prosecution would be in civil court.

Legislators still would be permitted to accept travel expenses, assist religious and nonprofit charitable agencies, accept campaign contributions, and, as attorneys, represent a client in which the state is a party in the case if the judgement is subjected to review of a higher court.

Another bill, reported out of the Committee on Forests and Waters, Games and Fish, would establish a rural beautification program. The legislation provides for development of areas for vistas, lookouts and panoramic views.

Bill Would Create Single College Board

HARRISBURG (AP) — The House Higher Education Committee released to the floor Tuesday legislation that would create a single state board of directors to govern Pennsylvania's 13 state colleges.

The board would have 15 members, appointed by the governor from nominations received from the State Board of Education. The members would serve staggered terms of six years.

Local boards of trustees that now govern the state colleges would be retained as advisory boards.

The board of trustees at Indiana University of Pennsylvania would retain its policy making functions, and both Indiana and the state colleges would be given greater fiscal autonomy under the committee-approved legislation.

The House Labor Relations Committee reported a Senate-passed bill that would provide for binding arbitration in labor disputes involving policemen and firemen. The measure, implementing a constitutional amendment, is aimed at averting strikes.

Civil Rights Leader To Get RFK Seat, NBC Reports

NEW YORK (AP) — The National Broadcasting Company reported Tuesday it had learned "unofficially" that James Farmer, former national director of the Congress of Racial Equality, would be appointed to succeed Robert F. Kennedy in the U.S. Senate.

But Farmer said Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller "has not contacted me" about the possibility.

"It would be highly flattering," Negro leader said, "but in the meantime I continue my congressional race."

Safeguard Your Home

Summertime is upon us and many a weary person is looking forward to packing up and hitting the vacation trail. To make it a truly happy vacation make sure the home you leave behind is safeguarded.

Here are a few tips offered by the International Association of Chiefs of Police to protect property while vacationing:

Inform your local police department of departure and return dates.

Don't let milk and newspaper deliveries pile up. This is a sure sign there's nobody home. Have mail sent to your vacation spot, held, or taken care of by a neighbor.

Provide a key for a neighbor you can trust for checking premises every once in a while. Inform police who has the key.

Leave some shades and blinds up while you're away. If all of them are down it's obvious the house is vacant.

A small light should be left burning so that it can be seen at night. Attaching it to an automatic device that turns the light off in the daytime and turns it on at night is even a better idea.

Other safeguards suggested by the association include having lawns mowed if you'll be away for a long time; making sure all electrical appliances are turned off and all doors and windows are locked, and using a door lock that has a bolt as well as the usual spring lock.

It is also recommended that records be kept of all valuables including the serial numbers of television sets, power tools and hi-fi equipment. This assists police in recovering stolen property and also serves as an aid for insurance claims.

Mind Resists Mysterious Truth

The incredible fact is difficult to digest. Most minds resist mysterious truths. I don't understand Wolfgang Mozart, who composed a complete symphony at the age of 8. One man, Dr. Salo Finkelstein, replaced 40 mathematicians in a job in Warsaw. In 1880, a Negro, Tom Wiggins, who couldn't read a note of music, would listen to anyone play a ballad or a concerto once—and then he sat and played it note for note.

Everyone knows at least one incomprehensible truth. It happened, but no one knows how or why. A bright young Australian reporter named John Godwin has written a book called "This Baffling World" (Hart Pub. Co.). I finished it at 5:20 this morning. At the same moment it finished me.

In 1945, a squadron of Avenger bombers started out from Fort Lauderdale, Florida, on a routine patrol. They were never seen again. A search plane went after them. It too disappeared. No oil slick, no debris, nothing. Big ships, like the collier Cyclops, have sailed serenely into the sunset never to be seen again—not a splinter of wood or a life preserver.

On Little Oak Island at Nova Scotia, the government is certain that there are millions of dollars buried in a pit behind the beach. The first digger found thick wooden platforms every ten feet he dug. At 170 feet, there is a big iron plate. Whoever buried the treasure dug two lateral channels from opposite beaches and filled them with coconut fiber.

It was clever engineering. As the digger passes them, sea water floods the shaft faster than it can be pumped out. An oil rig drilled down and the bit came up covered with flecks of gold. Modern companies have spent as much as $400,000 trying to get that treasure up, and no one has figured how to do it. Who buried it?

On the night of February 7, 1855, a thick snow fell on Devonshire, England. In the morning, the county almost lost its sanity, because there were small footprints in the snow. They ran straight through ten foot walls, ran over peaked roofs, across barns, through several towns, and back again. The citizens swore they were hunting for the devil. No one has explained the mystery.

The author enjoys exposing a fake mystery. Many people have read of the Indian rope trick, with a tossed rope hanging in the air, and a boy climbs it followed by an angry Hindu. The fakir hacks the child apart, and the limbs fall to the ground. When the fakir reaches the ground, he taps a box and the little boy comes out smiling. Godwin explains how it is done.

Some of Harry Houdini's tricks are exposed too. I remember him bound with chains, imprisoned in a cast iron chest, which was double locked and thrown into New York Bay. He got out. After all these years, John Godwin explains how Houdini fooled me.

Most people understand that the so-called Holy Man who sleeps on a bed of upright nails is as phony as an income tax return. So long as the nails are close enough together, the weight of the body is spread evenly over the points. No one has ever explained fire walkers. The temperature of the bed of embers has been tested at 1,400 degrees Fahrenheit, and the feet of the believers actually walk the length of the pit. Not how? But why?

Know anything about this, kids? I enjoyed reading "This Baffling World." I may as well tell the truth: I completed the book at 1 a.m. but couldn't get to sleep until 5:20. It...is... scary...

The Die Is All But Cast

HARRISBURG — The die has been all but cast insofar as Pennsylvania's lawmakers are concerned; either they have "it" or they don't!

The "it" in question refers not to any aesthetic attribute but rather to a record of sorts to which they may point in the upcoming fall campaign for return to their Senate or House seat.

This year all 203 House seats are up for filling along with half the fifty Senate seats.

Those lawmakers seeking re-election engagements on Capitol Hill in Pennsylvania's legislative branch — in theory — have a show running for them on the plus side, as opposed to the somewhat nebulous and head-scratching campaign wishes and promises to be offered by an opponent.

In other words, the "record" of the incumbent lawmaker could and should be quite a drawing card — if he has established any kind of record at all during his legislative tenure; it's something for voters to bite into which the inexperienced opponent obviously cannot hope to offer.

What then constitutes this "record"?

Actually there are several facets to be considered, broken down roughly into these categories: (1) attendance — has he been poor, fair or excellent in attending legislative sessions, (2) how has he voted on statewide or betterment-of-the-state issues, (3) how has he stacked up in effectively arguing for or against issues that would affect his area in particular, and (4) how active has he been in working with his local constituency on non-legislative problems (with Highways Department, Forests and Waters, etc.)?

The answer to these points already have been pretty well decided by now insofar as the local lawmaker's record is concerned.

The 1968 general session basically holds the key to any legislative greatness they may have attained during their two year tenure.

Looking over the "judging" points one by one:

— Attendance, how do you size up this point? In neither House nor Senate is there such a thing as an "attendance roll" for each day's sessions, thus the next best basis is whether the lawmaker in question is recorded as voting on roll calls for each day. (If he is recorded as having voted, in theory he was present.)

— Voting record on legislation. This can be a sticky one. The main point of concern is whether he went overboard in a selfish extreme to vote against a good-for-the-commonwealth piece of legislation simply because of a possible negative reaction at home and a possible subsequent loss of local votes. (Somebody has to stand up and be counted.)

— Working for or against issues affecting his local area. This is perhaps the toughest area for a lawmaker, and for a lawmaker with any spunk at all, most difficult outcomes to reconcile with his local constituents.

— Activity in behalf of local constituency. There are many, many areas in which lawmakers (as the local elected representatives of the people) can and do work in behalf of their folks at home — even though it has nothing to do with legislation or the Legislature.

Much of this is liaison work between local and state bodies — it may be between a local school district and the Department of Public Instruction, between a local municipality and the Department of Highways, between a local citizen group and the Department of Forests and Waters, etc.

At this point the die has been cast on these criteria. The individual lawmakers have made their record; now it's up to the voters they "represent"!

Happenings Years Ago

Neil Simmons of Warren has been employed by the city police department to act as a special policeman for parking meter duty for a period of 60 days. This is in line with the policy set up by borough council to release regular officers for more extensive traffic duty.

Mr. and Mrs. Alan Templeton left for Albany, N.Y. where they will attend sessions of the Northeastern Jurisdictional Conference of the Methodist Church.

State highway department made minor repairs to the Sherwood Refinery road. Patching was done west of the tracks at Glade and to the caved in section east of the refinery.

Judy and Steve Blair, twin daughter and son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest F. Blair of Barnes, were chosen by their classmates as the boy and girl in the eighth grade at Sheffield School most worthy to receive the 1953 medals given annually by the American Legion and Auxiliary.

Crime on TV Pays High

WASHINGTON—Most people have forgotten it, but former Sen. Clarence Dill of Washington is the chief author of the 1934 Communications Act regulating the thousands of TV and radio programs which the American public hears and sees daily.

"When we wrote the act," said Sen. Dill recently, "Senator White of Maine and I considered whether we should put a ceiling on profits. After all, the act provided for the use of air channels belonging to the public and the public had a right to be paid for them out of profits."

"However, we decided there wouldn't be any profits. That's why there is no requirement in the law for any rental or benefit to the public."

"If we had it to do over again, the law would have been different," said former Sen. Dill, now retired and living in Spokane.

His words are significant in view of the sting report issued by two members of the Federal Communications Commission, Kenneth Cox and Nicholas Johnson, pointing to the profits of the TV-radio industry.

Coupled with their report comes the tragic death of Sen. Robert Kennedy and the reaction of at least one member of the President's newly appointed Commission on Violence, former Ambassador Patricia Harris, who says that when life is so cheap on television it becomes cheap also in reality.

Since 1960, the nation's population has grown by 10 per cent. But since 1960, the nation's crime has gone up 88 per cent. Significantly, the rate of crime more nearly matches the growth of the TV industry than it does the growth of the nation. Furthermore, the rate of crime is highest among the youth who have grown up glued to the TV sets.

American industry appropriates billions each year for the TV commercials which sell its products, and tells its stockholders the money spent is a good investment. But if the TV commercial sells its product, then the TV program must also sell its No. 1 product—crime. You can't sell one without selling the other. When a child sees men shot, week in and week out, he comes to believe that shooting a man is as easy and as common as washing one's hair with a glamor rinse.

Forty per cent of the working force today is women—many of them mothers—and with around 30 million mothers working, the TV set has become the baby sitter at home. This may be worse than no mother at all.

With crimes of violence deluging the networks daily, it's time we asked whether TV murder brought into our homes is not the cause of actual murder in our streets.

The Commission on Violence should ask—if three minutes on TV will sell millions of tubes of toothpaste, how much crime in the street will 27 minutes of TV crime sell?

It is a miracle of distribution that TV can reach tens of millions of people at the same time. It is a miracle of distribution that a water system can distribute fresh water to every home in a city.

Today we select the products we use and the people to govern us by means of TV. We are also showing young minds—too young to select a selection of crimes.

These are some of the questions the new Commission on Violence will doubtless want to consider.

The FCC survey by Commissioners Cox and Johnson did not deal specifically with TV crime but rather with the huge profits derived from this kind of programming and the manner in which the FCC renews licenses almost automatically.

The television industry averages about 100 per cent return on depreciated tangible investment and about 40 per cent on gross revenues," the two commissioners reported.

They found that only one of ten stations in Oklahoma with around $16,000,000 a year gross devotes as much as two hours a week to local public affairs programs.

"There is not in the entire state (of Oklahoma) a single regularly scheduled prime time program devoted to presentation, analysis, or discussion of controversial issues of public importance in the state or in the community," reported Commissioners Cox and Johnson.

Yet the FCC renewed their licenses automatically.

(c) N. Y. Times News Service
NEW YORK—The death of Robert Kennedy seems to have startled Nelson Rockefeller out of his trance. Like a flash of lightning in the dark, it has suddenly shown him where he must go and what he must do in his last adventure in American elective politics.

The truth is that Rockefeller has lost his way and stumbled into strange and unnatural country. Ever since he came into national politics under Roosevelt 28 years ago, he has been comfortable only while moving to the left of his party. This is where he stood and fought for progressive policies in the 1960 Republican convention and this is where he fought and lost against Goldwater in the convention of 1964.

Then, consciously or unconsciously, he began to trim. He convinced himself—and there was a certain logic to his reasoning—that he must move to the right and neutralize the Goldwater faction. Otherwise, he felt, if he fought hard for the nomination against Nixon, he would split what was obviously a minority party and then, even if he got the nomination, lose the election.

He was out of character in this role, however, and it showed. He seemed hesitant and indecisive. He avoided the struggle in the primaries, said he didn't "want" to be president, then said he would accept a draft, and finally announced he would fight for the nomination. But even then he seemed to be waltzing around the problem.

The gun flash in Los Angeles changed all this. It took him out of himself and brought him back to familiar ground. It showed him the larger question of who could now capture the unorganized middle of both parties and appeal to the young, the Negroes and the rest of the poor who had followed Kennedy. It turned his mind from tactics to principles, and showed him that he had been giving to his party what really belonged to the country.

Gene McCarthy, who did not hesitate and saw the issues of peace and poverty clearly from the start, is also starting out again with a similar aim. Thus, the campaign is developing into a battle for Kennedy's supporters, for the independent middle and the unorganized poor against the organized political institutions backing Humphrey and Nixon.

Beyond this is the over-riding question: Who can put together an effective coalition of forces that can govern the country in the next four years? Rockefeller and McCarthy can argue that this cannot be done so long as the aggrieved and rebellious forces of the nation—the critical young and the critical poor—feel as they now do against Nixon and Humphrey. It will be a difficult and maybe a losing battle, but Rockefeller and McCarthy might help each other and it is not all over yet. In the last couple of days, in Pennsylvania and Washington, Rockefeller has clearly been appealing, not for the support of the Republican conservatives—he was not going to get them anyway—but for the support of Kennedy's voters, for the independents and for the popularity polls.

He is also considering the appointment of John Gardner, former secretary of health, education and welfare, and Burke Marshall, former assistant attorney general under Kennedy, to Kennedy's seat in the senate. And either man, particularly Marshall, who is close to both the Negro and university communities, would help Rockefeller with the constituencies Rockefeller is now trying to reach.

All politics, however, are based on the indifference of the majority, and the question is whether the unorganized majority will now respond to McCarthy and Rockefeller, or leave the issue to the pros. If they do the latter, the outcome is fairly clear. The party machinery, backed in Humphrey's case by most of the labor union leaders, will dominate the conventions, and even take the votes Kennedy won against the Democratic party organization.

This has been clear to McCarthy all along and is finally clear to Rockefeller. The New York governor's big advertising and speaking campaign is just beginning. It is very late, but even now it may influence the polls enough to bring him back into the race.

Your Money's Worth

(Last in a Series)

Would you, an elderly American, believe that vitamin E is "best known for its direct beneficial effect on the sex organs?" and that "serious lack of this vitamin may cause sterility?"

Would you believe that a special tablet could be "effective for the treatment of rundown and weak conditions... loss of enjoyment of life... inability to be the man or woman formerly possible" as well as make it easier for you to endure noisy children, coated tongue and gas?

Would you lay out money to buy mail-order "electronic pulsators," "special stimulants," "geriatric elixirs" or any other chemical or mechanical product advertised as capable of restoring "lost vigor" reviving sexual activity or even rebuilding sex organs?

I hope you wouldn't. As the late Dr. Alfred Kinsey put it: "good health, sufficient exercise and plenty of sleep still remain the most effective aphrodisiacs known to man."

But, as an elderly American, you are now the major target of an endless variety of fountain-of-youth promoters in this country. You also are the target of an endless variety of other types of gypsies attempting to bill you out of your limited retired income.

Even if you are not yet retired, you probably have elderly friends or relatives. Surely you want to help them avoid the gypsies which could seriously deplete their modest savings or slash their monthly benefits checks.

Here, from the National Better Business Bureau in New York and Harvest Years, the retirement magazine, is a sampling of today's most widespread gypsies and exaggerations aimed at our elderly population:

+ In the dance studio racket, on men soft-talk lonely, elderly women into buying oversize packages of dancing lessons, payable in advance. In one case, an elderly widow agreed to buy EIGHT "lifetime memberships" in a dance studio, at a cost of $34,913.

+ In the "vitamins forever" scheme, mail order houses of questionable reputation persuade the elderly to buy "subscriptions" to geriatric preparations but refuse to act on instructions to stop the cascade of pills.

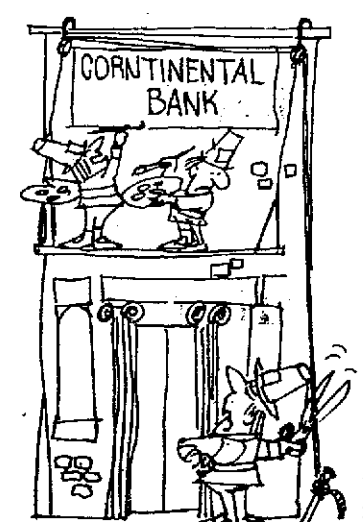

+ In the sphere of often essential supports, hearing aids, eyeglasses and dentures also are being advertised and sold through the mails to the elderly, without benefit of doctors' prescriptions or other data necessary for proper purchases.

+ In the food field, high-pressure promoters are legion. So-called "health foods" are being promoted as capable of supplying astounding amounts of needed extra vitamins and minerals. Many of these are by no means gypsies but the fact is that the Food and Drug Administration in Washington has consistently branded them as expensive substitutes for ordinary foods available in the supermarket.

+ In the "retirement home" area, racketeers thrive by promoting building sites through the mails for retirement homes, at seemingly bargain prices. But the "paradise" described may turn out to be located in the desert or underwater, or on the side of a volcano.

In addition to all these are the stock racketeers, who frequently are able to high-pressure older people into buying worthless securities just because they're so pressed for money and eager to make a fast dollar.

Use this column as a guide to what gypsies and exaggerations are directed primarily at you. And use it too for vital clues on how to beat them.

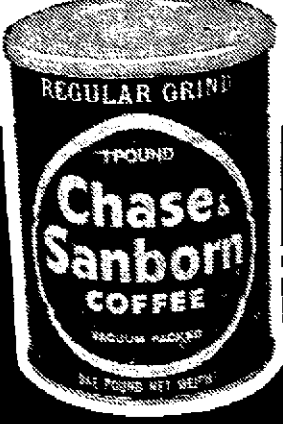

EARLY colonists of America often used corn as a medium of exchange instead of money.

Four Inmates Take 23 Hostages; Demand Warden Hear Grievances

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Four inmates took 23 employees at the U.S. Penitentiary hostage Tuesday and demanded that a newspaper reporter hear grievances which Warden Olin G. Blackwell said were not spelled out.

The reporter, William B. Williams of The Atlanta Journal, hurried to the penitentiary on Atlanta's south side when he was sent for by Blackwell.

But hours later, he still was in the warden's office.

There was fear that Williams, too, might be held hostage if he met with the prisoners.

"It's his decision," Blackwell said, "I've warned him of the hazards."

Williams said he expected to talk with the inmates. He said he was acquainted with one of them, Fredrick Freeman Lester, 34, who is serving 15 years for bank robbery and assault convictions.

The other inmates were identified as Ralph Michael Lepisco, 25, serving a bank robbery sentence; Ivan Daniel Neighbors, 29, serving a life term for kidnapping and murder, and Robert William Gorman, another convicted bank robber.

Blackwell said it is believed the inmates have two pistols and an unknown amount of ammunition.

Twenty-five hostages were held at first, but two women were released.

Eighteen men and five women were being held in record rooms on the second floor of the administrative section of the penitentiary.

One of those being held was Associate Warden J. W. Land.

Relatives of prison employees stood in groups across the street from the penitentiary. Some of the wives and daughters of prison employees cried quietly.

The scene earlier was one of confusion.

Holly Sanford, a file clerk in the records office, said the confusion began about 10:55 a.m., and he heard gunshots.

"There were three," he said. The warden said no injuries had been reported. He made no mention of gunfire.

Heart Transplant Patient's Doctor Very Concerned

CAPE TOWN, South Africa (AP) — A liver ailment has stricken the world's longest surviving heart transplant patient and his chief surgeon left London for Cape Town Tuesday saying "I am very worried."

Dr. Philip Blaiberg, 59, who received a new heart Jan. 2 and has been living at home, developed the ailment described as hepatitis while undergoing routine tests in Groote Schuur Hospital here for most of the past two weeks.

Blaiberg was given emergency treatment Monday night and Tuesday. Doctors expressed concern for his condition.

Dr. Christiaan N. Barnard, who headed the transplant team, at first told reporters in London that Blaiberg's condition was not critical, adding: "But I am disappointed that this has happened. I have not given up hope."

Barnard said Blaiberg was suffering from hepatitis, a liver infection often referred to as jaundice. But later, before boarding a plane for home, he expressed concern.

"This is dreadful news," Barnard told airport reporters. "So far as we were concerned he had made a complete recovery but the hospital said he has developed jaundice and some liver infection. It could be serious. I am very worried."

Defense Rests in Dr. Spock Antidraft Conspiracy Trial

in the antidraft conspiracy trial of Dr. Benjamin Spock and four others rested its case Tuesday after Spock testified that he hoped youths would refuse to serve in the armed forces, but never advised them to refuse service.

The government began its rebuttal after the defense rested.

The 65-year-old Spock was the last of the defendants to testify in a U.S. District Court trial that began May 23.

The other defendants are Yale
Chaplain William Sloane Coffin
Jr., 43; author Mitchell Goodman, 44, of New York City; Marcus Raskin, 34, codirector of the Institute for Policy Studies in Washington; and Harvard graduate student Michael Ferber, 23.

They are charged with conspiring to "counsel, aid and abet" young men to refuse military service. If convicted, each faces a prison term of up to 10 years and a fine up to $10,000.

Spock denied portions of an FBI agent's testimony earlier that in an interview he said young men "should" refuse induction or, if they already were in the armed services, refuse to fight.

The pediatrician-author said he told the FBI he "hoped" the men would refuse.

He denied advocating a bid to "obstruct and frustrate the raising of troops" for Vietnam, and said that while he did not advise youths to resist military service, he did approve of their actions in doing so.

Spock also denied that he ever advocated interfering with the "machinery" of the Selective Service system. His appearances at antidraft demonstrations cited in the government's indictment were intended to be "symbolic," he said.

Spock said he thought it would be "wrong" for me to try to persuade anybody to actively take action in draft resistance."

The pediatrician said the only young men he counseled on the subject were two who came to him for advice after they made up their own minds to refuse induction.

"I told them they were foolish to resist the draft, I told them they could do more for world peace through other means,"
Spock said.

In response to a question, Spock said he hoped that "many men will refuse to be inducted" and that he would be "glad if 500,000 men in the army and navy believed the war unjust" and "refused to obey orders."

AIR FORCE ACADEMY,
Colo. (AP)—Brig. Gen. Robert F. McDermott, dean of the faculty at the U.S. Air Force Academy since 1956, is retiring on his 48th birthday July 31 to join a San Antonio, Tex., auto insurance firm.

McDermott is the only remaining member of the staff of officers who organized the school at Denver's Lowry Air Force Base in 1954, before the present campus was established north of Colorado Springs.

Navy Campaigns To Man Combat River Boats

WASHINGTON (AP)—Holding out the lure of adventure plus attractive side benefits, the Navy is campaigning for volunteers to command a growing fleet of combat river boats in Vietnam.

Their assignment: to stop the Viet Cong from infiltrating men and supplies and otherwise waging war along Vietnam's extensive waterway system in the Mekong Delta.

To qualified enlisted men of the petty officer grades the Navy offers the helm of $58,- 000, 31 foot fiberglass boats armed with machine guns.

A recent call for volunteers presented the assignment as "important, challenging and rewarding duty."

As one officer commented:
"For a Navy man it is a rare experience of fighting the enemy eyeball to eyeball, not from a big ship standing off shore."

A recent Navy Medal of Honor winner, he noted, was a boat swain's mate running a river boat who discovered a nest of hidden Viet Cong boats and sampans and shot up 60 in a blazing, three hour battle.

The river boats are part of a mobile water force which began in late 1966 conducting what amounted to the Navy's first river warfare operations since the Civil War. They work closely with South Vietnamese naval units.

About 200 are in operation and more are planned.

The Navy said it wants "highly motivated, mature petty officers with proven strong leadership qualities and a high degree of moral courage," plus six years Navy experience, for the special duty.

In addition to plenty of action the Navy promises extra combat pay, total exemption of all wages from income taxes, Viet-interest on savings deposits, among extra benefits.

H-2495 (passed) — Providing an appropriation of $1 million to pay National Guard expenses incurred during the April civil disorders in Pittsburgh, with the bulk of the appropriation to be used to compensate some 7800 Guardsmen ordered to active duty. (Allen - Yes);

S-358 (passed) — Providing for an increase in the amount which may annually be paid for bear damage. (Allen - Yes);

In the Senate:
S-1362 (passed) — Amend the "Real Estate Tax Sale Law" by removing the one year limitation during which property may be sold at private sale. (Frame - Yes);

S-1365 (passed) — Changing the method of providing for additional supervisors in second class townships. (Frame - Yes);

S-1410 (passed) — Authorize school districts and municipalities combined, except Philadelphia and Pittsburgh, to levy a two percent wage tax on residents, with a maximum of one and one-half percent allowed for the district. (Frame - Yes);

S-1498 (passed) — Authorize campus police at any state-owned, state-related or private college receiving funds from the state to remove disorderly persons from college or university buildings. (Frame - Yes);

S-1501 (passed) — Authorize a $28 million referendum to provide for a bonus for Pennsylvania veterans of the Vietnam conflict and providing for a bonus of $25 a month up to a maximum of $750. (Frame - Yes);

S-1504 (passed) — Require the Governor to take whatever action he may deem necessary to restore order on any state-owned building, more specifically the 14 state-owned colleges and universities. (Frame - Yes);

H-1195 (passed) — Permit any stock fire and stock marine insurance company to purchase, hold, sell and transfer shares of its own capital stock. (Frame - Did Not Vote);

H-1374 (passed) — Establish in statute form criteria and standards for the conduct of firemen's relief associations, providing for their formation and for their dissolution. (Frame - Yes);

H-2072 (passed) — Authorize the Department of Property and Supplies with the approval of the Governor to sublease certain state property to the "Allied Services for the Handicapped, Inc." (Frame - Yes);

H-2210 (passed) — Granting an exemption from the tax upon gross receipts derived from sales of gas to any municipality-owned or operated public utility. (Frame - Yes);

H-2343 (passed) — Providing for the appointment of an assistant county solicitor in fourth class counties. (Frame - Yes);

Wallace Says Civil Disorders Encouraged by Some Officials

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — Alabama's George C. Wallace, every move guarded by Secret Service agents, resumed his presidential campaign Tuesday and charged that some persons in high places have encouraged civil disorders.

Wallace included Vice President Hubert Humphrey, Atty. Gen. Ramsey Clark and the President's Advisory Commission on Civil Disorders in the category of those unwittingly abetting breakdown of law and order.

Sen. Scott Seeks Foreign Aid Program Changes

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Hugh Scott called Tuesday for a revamping of the nation's foreign aid program and urged, among other things, that strict criteria be set to avoid corruption.

"It is time to tighten up and see exactly what we are getting for our aid dollars," the Pennsylvania Republican told the Senate. "For too long we have indiscriminately scattered our assistance."

He introduced an amendment calling for a joint Senate-House committee to evaluate the nation's foreign aid program. The committee, Scott said, would have three main goals:

— "Evaluating our past aid programs to see which were the most effective."

— "Determining the basic goals underlying our assistance and making them precise and relevant to broader U.S. national interests."

— "Setting reasonable but strict criteria for administering and funding of foreign aid programs."

"Our foreign policy is essentially a means to an end, and confusion of policy naturally follows if we are not sure what ends we have in mind," he said.

He also asked if it "would really matter if we cut off aid to small nations where we have chiefly supported numerous 'monument building' projects? Did our aid to Ghana achieve anything?"

Bill Designates Interstate 80 Memorial Route

HARRISBURG (AP) — The House unanimously passed and sent to the Senate Tuesday a bill to designate Interstate 80 in Pennsylvania "Memorial Highway of the 80th Division of the U.S. Army."

The highway, known unofficially as the Keystone Shortway, crosses the northern portion of the state from the New Jersey to the Ohio borders.

The House completed legislative action on two Senate-passed bills, one of which would designate U.S. 219 in Western Pennsylvania "The North Star Way."

The other would name a bridge over the Allegheny River at Freeport in Armstrong County after Donald R. Lobaugh of Freeport, who was awarded the Congressional Medal of Honor posthumously.

Borough Police Issue Report

The borough police desk during the month of May received 825 telephone calls with requests for information with police responding to 189 calls. There were 43 minor investigations and 11 major. Stolen goods were recovered in the amount of $642.14. Money was guarded in transit nine times and six fire calls answered. Nine doors were found open or unlocked; one funeral escort was performed and three specific events policed. Five dogs were turned over to the humane society and 16 transients or overnight lodgers recorded. Police provided 11 talks or lectures.

Borough Firemen Have Busy Month

Warren borough firemen reported a busy month of May with 23 fire calls. Valuation involved was listed at $38,350 but actual loss was held to $175. In addition to making many repairs to equipment, the department conducted 58 inspections. The men attended the fourth annual tri-county fire school in Smethport and were also schooled locally for 60 hours. A film, "Have a Wonderful Evening," based on baby sister training in fire safety, has been donated to the department by Allegheny Valve Company.

"The vice president himself has made statements that encouraged the very breakdown of law and order that we've seen in our country," Wallace said in a news conference. "But I do not say that he did it knowingly or wittingly..."

"But I think that when people in high places say that if 'I would march too' or 'I would revolt' or 'I would do this' that does encourage it."

He said the presidential commission that studied riot causes had helped create the climate for disorder. The commission said white racism was a significant root factor in riots. Wallace said also that Atty. Gen. Clark's talk of removing causes of riots had helped bring trouble.

Directly to blame for riots,

Wallace said, are the Communist party and criminal elements.

Wallace hit the campaign trail again for the first time since the May 7 death of his wife, Lurleen, who was governor of Alabama. This is a fund-raising tour taking Wallace's third-party campaign to 11 cities in the South.

Wallace predicted his candidacy would hurt the Democrats more than the Republicans outside the South. In the Deep South, he said, "We may take some votes away from the Republican nominee."

The assassination of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, Wallace said, emphasizes the need to "return to law and order." But Wallace said it was hard to say what effect the murder would have on his own campaign.

State Scholarship Assistance Application Deadline Aug. 1

1968 high school graduates who are interested in applying for State Scholarship assistance from the Pennsylvania Higher Education Assistance Agency in order to attend an approved postsecondary trade, technical, business or a hospital school of nursing must file their applications with PHEAA no later than August 1, 1968.

Applications for this category may be obtained from financial aid officers at these institutions, secondary school guidance counselors, PHEAA Regional Representatives or by writing to the Agency in Harrisburg.

The program of study must be approved for participation in the State Scholarship Program and must cover a minimum of 1800 clock hours of instruction or be two complete years in duration.

While there is no competitive examination required of applicants for these Scholarships, demonstrated financial need and admission to an approved school are prerequisites.

Ludlow's First Fire Truck Arrives

The first fire truck for the community of Ludlow arrived Tuesday from Northeast to serve nearly 1,000 persons who have depended on volunteer fire services from Kane and Sheffield in their time of need. The new 500 gallon pumper has an 800 pound pressure capacity and equipped with two reels of three quarter inch hose and will carry 500 feet of hose.

Scorpion Officer Testifies About Surfacing System

NORFOLK, Va. (AP) — An officer who served aboard the lost submarine Scorpion for 53 months testified Tuesday he was given "no qualms" by her lack of an emergency surfacing system and consequent restrictions imposed on her maximum operating depths.

"I had no reservations as to the adequacy" of the submarine's regular surfacing system, by which a submersible empties her tanks of water in order to ascend, Lt. Cmdr. R.R. Fountain told a naval court of inquiry probing the loss of the submarine.

Fountain said he saw the Scorpion's regular ballast-blowing system in operation many times, even before depth restrictions were placed on the submarine, and he "considered the system to be very adequate."

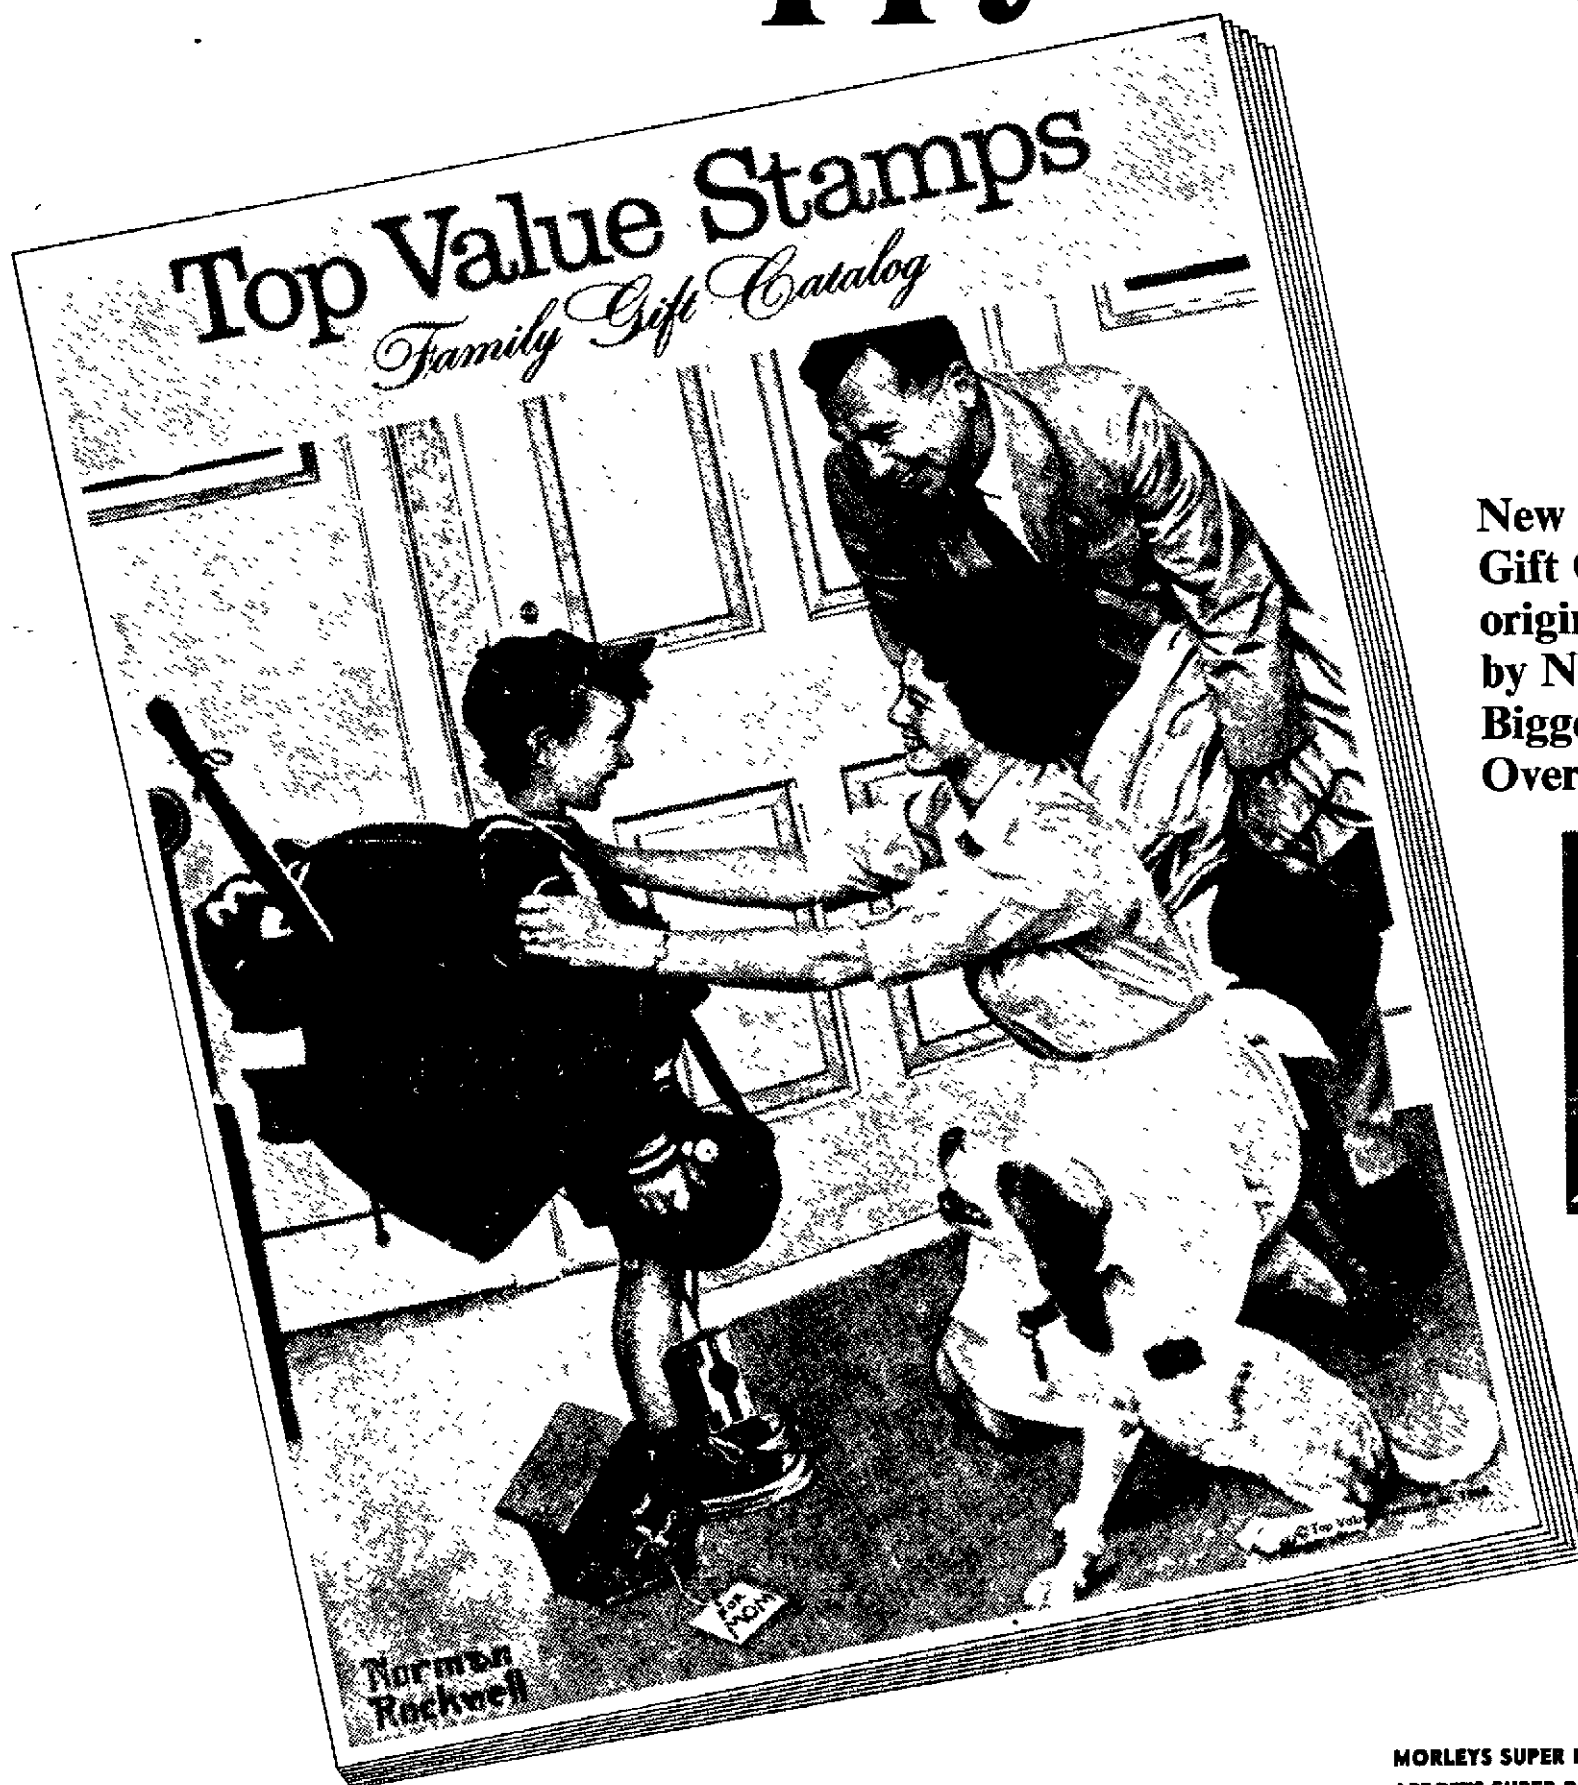

The witness said he felt the Scorpion's crew, before her departure for the Mediterranean in February, "was particularly strong" and that he believed she was in good material condition.

Maximum depth restrictions were imposed on the Scorpion in 1964 because an emergency ballast-blowing system, installed at the Charleston, S.C., Naval Shipyard, was found to be defective and its use prohibited.

At the opening of Tuesday's session a witness testified two secret movement orders were radioed to the Scorpion by headquarters of the Atlantic Fleet Submarine Force as the Scorpion was returning home from the Mediterranean last month.

Lt. Cmdr. Charles H. Garrison, headquarters communications officer, said the first order sent on or about May 17, was "routinely classified" and a subsequent message was "highly classified."

Pappas Proves Seer; Leaves Reds in Trade

CINCINNATI (AP) — Cincinnati dealt starting pitcher Milt Pappas, who recently said his days with the Reds "are numbered," to Atlanta Tuesday as part of a six-player trade.

The Reds also gave up reliever Ted Davidson and infielder Bob Johnson for pitchers Tony Clineberger and Clay Carroll and infielder Woody Woodward.

Clineberger, 27, was the ace of the Braves' staff in 1965 when he won 24 games and from 1964-67 totaled 57 victories. In eight contests this season, he has posted a 1.3 record with a 4.26 earned run average.

Carroll, 27, was the Braves' top reliever in 1966 as he set a club record for appearing in 73 games, but this year he is 0-1 with a 4.70 ERA in 10 performances.

"We're pleased with the trade and feel both Clineberger and Carroll will be a tremendous asset to our pitching staff," said Reds General Manager Bob Howsam. "Clineberger will be a starter for us and will probably have a starting assignment before the end of the week," Howsam added.

Woodward, 25, who hit .264 in 1966, has only four hits in 24 at bats this year for a .167 mark.

Pappas has posted a 2.5 record this year with a 5.57 ERA in 15 games. The 29-year-old veteran pitched Sunday that his days with the club "are numbered and a change would be better for all concerned."

Ball Players Thanked

WASHINGTON (AP) — The press secretary of the late Robert F. Kennedy has sent telegrams of thanks to four major league baseball players and the New York Mets for their actions in observing a day of mourning for the assassinated senator.

The wires were sent to Gil Hodges, manager of the Mets, intended for the entire team which refused to play a scheduled game in San Francisco Saturday; and players Maury Wills of Pittsburgh, Rusty Staub and Bob Aspromonte of Houston and Milt Pappas of Cincinnati.

Wills, Staub and Aspromonte refused to play in Sunday's game between Pittsburgh and Houston at the Astrodome.

Pappas, the Reds' player representative, resigned his position when the club management ordered Saturday night's delayed game played despite his protests.

The wires, sent by press secretary Frank Mankiewicz, said: "Please accept my personal admiration for your actions. Sen. Kennedy indeed enjoyed competitive sports but I doubt that he would have put box office receipts ahead of national mourning."

Mankiewicz said Mrs. Kennedy would write personal letters to the people who receive the telegrams.

Mays May Pass Ruth's HR Mark

NEW YORK (AP) — Few things are impossible as far as Willie Mays is concerned and the San Francisco star now seems to have at least an outside chance of overtaking Babe Ruth as major league baseball's career home run leader.

The Giant outfielder's output increased his lifetime total to 575 homers and placed him 139 behind the Bambino's 714. Mays is likely to reach 600 this year and then it would take an average of about 29 home runs over the next four seasons to reach Ruth's aggregate.

Mays, who is 37 years old, is tied for the NL top spot with teammates Jim Hart and Willie McCovey and Chicago's Ernie Banks. Willie also gained ground in the runs batted in race. He had seven last week, boosting his total to 33. Cincinnati's Tony Perez leads with 35. Frank Howard of Washington continues to set the American League pace in homers with 22 and RBI, 47.

In the AL batting competition, only two players are over the .300 mark among those with at His comments were prompted by trouble that arose after Sen. Robert Kennedy was slain. As Cincinnati Player representative he told Reds' management that players would prefer not to play Saturday night as Kennedy's funeral was not completed at game time.

Pappas, who was 16-13 last year with a 3.34 ERA, said "a number of things have come up besides the Sen. Kennedy situation" but he refused to elaborate.

Davidson, 27, is 1-0 in 1968 with a 6.14 ERA in 23 games and Johnson, 32, is batting .267 in 16 games.

Cincinnati's three new players will join the team in Chicago where the Reds are currently playing a four-game series with the Cubs.

least 115 times at bat. They are Carl Yastrzemski of Boston, the leader at 339, and Howard, 336. Yastrzemski dropped 12 points with a 4-for-18 showing in last week's action. Howard slipped 15 points with only six hits in 6 tries.

Rick Monday of Oakland is third at .299 followed by Rod Carew of Minnesota, .294. The figures include Monday's games.

Gibson Stops Braves

ATLANTA (AP) — Bob Gibson ended a personal jinx against Atlanta with a five-hitter as the St. Louis Cardinals extended their spell over the Braves with a 6-0 rout Tuesday night.

Gibson, raising his record to 6-5 with his second consecutive shutout, beat the Braves for the first time in two years. He struck out four, walked two, hit one and allowed only one runner past first base as the Cardinals pulled off four double plays.

The Cardinals scored five runs in the first three innings, knocking out Dick Kelley, 2-4, en route to their 13th victory in 15 games and 10th straight over Atlanta.

Lou Brock opened the game with a walk and scored on Julian Javier's double. Javier scored on outfielder Mike Lum's wild throw home.

With two out in the third, Curt Flood singled, Orlando Cepeda and Mike Shannon walked and Tim McCarver singled in two runs. Shannon scored when McCarver's hit skipped by Lum. Flood's double and Shannon's single completed the scoring in the eighth.

Astros Win

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Rusty Staub's two-run double clinched a five-run second inning uprising that swept the Houston Astros to a 5-1 victory over Philadelphia Tuesday night, extending the Phillies' losing streak to five games.

Larry Dierker checked the Phillies on seven hits, including a first-inning homer by Rich Allen who was starting his first game since May 29 following a dispute with management.

Dierker, 6-8, struck out 11. Bob Aspromonte drew a walk from Phil's starter Rick Wise to start the second inning burst. Julio Gotay singled and John Bateman followed with a double for the first run.

Dierker singled home another, chasing Wise, and Ron Davis greeted reliever Gary Wagner with a sacrifice fly. Denis Menke then walked and Staub lashed a two-run double to right.

Peres Leads Reds

CHICAGO (AP) — Tony Perez whacked a two-run homer and drove in two other runs Tuesday in pacing the Cincinnati Reds to a 9-7 victory over the Chicago Cubs.

Perez hit his seventh homer in the third inning. His fourth-inning single drove in another run, and another tally crossed the plate on his grounder in the third inning. The output lifted Perez's National League leading RBI total to 39.

Lee May also homered for Cincinnati, a bases-empty shot in the eighth inning off Rich Nye, Chicago's fifth pitcher.

The Reds amassed 11 hits and capitalized on two walks and a pair of Cub errors to score six runs in the first four innings against Joe Niekro, Jack Lamb and Chuck Hartenstein.

The Cubs challenged briefly with three runs in the fourth and sixth innings. They knocked out starter George Culver in the fourth, Glenn Beckert topping a four-hit spree with a run-scoring double. Billy Williams and Ron Santo singled in runs in the sixth, and another scored on a wild pitch.

Snyder Leads Sox

NEW YORK (AP) — Russ Snyder knocked in five runs with a grand slam homer and sacrifice fly Tuesday night, leading the Chicago White Sox to a 9-5 victory over the New York Yankees.

Snyder's grand slam capped a five-run explosion in the third inning. Pete Ward, who had drawn a bases-loaded walk in the third, keyed a three-run wrapup burst in the fifth with a two-run, bad-hop single.

Trailing 8-0, the Yankees closed the gap on a three-run homer by Tom Tresh in the bottom of the fifth and Mickey Mantle's two-run blast in the sixth.

Winning pitcher Joe Horlen, 5-6, held the Yankees hitless until the fifth. He gave way to Don McMahon in the sixth and Wilbur Wood came in the eighth.

Tigers Take Two

DETROIT (AP) — Cesar Tovar, who fumbled away an earlier run, let in the winning run with a wild throw in the ninth inning and the Detroit Tigers beat Minnesota 3-2 for a sweep of their doubleheader Tuesday night.

Catcher Jim Price drove in two runs and scored the third on pitcher Pat Dobson's hit as the Tigers won the opener 3-1.

Tom Matchick opened the ninth with a single against losing pitcher Al Worthington and after winner John Hiller struck out, Dick McAuliffe singled. Mickey Stanley then hit into a force out and second baseman Tovar, trying for the double play, threw wild to first and Matchick scored.

American League leading Detroit knotted the score 2-2 off Ron Perranoski in the eighth en route to its seventh victory in the last eight games.

Stanley opened with a single and Jim Northrup reached first when the third strike was a wild pitch. Norm Cash singled to tie the score and Worthington came on to retire the side.

Minnesota, losing its fourth straight, scored one run off starter Joe Sparna in the first inning on Tony Oliva's sacrifice fly. Another run was scored in the fourth on a walk and Tovar's double.

Detroit scored in the third on Stanley's double, an infield grounder and an error by Tovar.

Blueberry Ladies Golf

Jean Boettcher had low gross and low net in the first flight in Ladies Day play at Blueberry Hill Tuesday. Play for the day was low puts.

Isabel Vesco was tourney winner for first flight.

Gayle Ettinger was low gross and low tourney winner for the second flight. Dorothy Bufton had low net.

Third flight winners were: low gross, Vernal Munch; low net, Elizabeth Smith, and tournament, Helen Walker.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Dick Selma, New York's unbeaten right-hander, reeled off his sixth victory Tuesday night, firing a five-hitter as the Mets trimmed the Los Angeles Dodgers 3-0.

The Pittsburgh Pirates led the San Francisco Giants, 7-3, going into the last half of the eighth inning.

HOT STOVE LEAGUE

Warren Eagles Win

The Eagles Club of Warren battled back from a 6-0 deficit to hand the Warren Asphalt a surprising 8-6 setback. Greg "Egg White" Redding came in to relieve to pick up the win. Rick Cowles double was the only hitting highlight for the FOE. Mark Zawacki was tagged for the losing role. Greg Lilly's double was the only extra base hit for the Asphalters.

Forge Nets Victory

National Forge netted a victory last night over Warren County Dairy 27-8. Bruce Newman hurled the win and Colvin suffered the loss. Craig Nuhfer smashed a homer for the winners while Craig Lord banged two doubles. Tom Pellegrino cracked two doubles and Newman snagged one. Walters bombed a homer for the losers.

Lions Drain Lake

The Tidoute Lions drained Lake's Service of every ounce of strength last night as they edged past the Servicemen 15-13. Andy McGraw picked up the win for the Lions while Brian DeVore suffered the loss. Doubles were smacked for the Lions by Chris Knight and McGraw. Lake's received a two-bagger clubbed by DeVore.

Clark's Ford Moving

Clark's Ford was on the move last night as they ran over Tidoute VFW 9-4. The win went to Dave Graham while Jim Yucha picked up the loss. Cyril Paden cracked a pair of doubles for Clark's while triples were slapped by Joel Edwards, Jeff Baker and Raymond Haller. John Vincent netted a double and triple for VFW.

Auto Running Smooth

Western Auto was running smooth in intermediate action last night as they downed Tidoute 11-4. Rich Fitzgerald fanned 13 batters to net the victory for Auto. The loss was suffered by Bill Adams. Doubles were the only extra-base hits in the contest as Jeff Blum, Dave Belt, and Duke Gheres smashed two-baggers for the winners and J. Seveda snagged a double for the losers.

Diamond Win Sparkles

The Diamond Grange won a sparkling victory over Berenfield Barrel last night 11-0. Pat Gerarde picked up the win while Tim Walker was charged with the loss. Gerarde and Deny Holden smashed homers while Jeff Baldensperger and Royce Blum snagged two-baggers, all for the winners. Berenfield was led by an outstanding array of round-trippers. Joe Ely and Steve Brewster each bombed two homers apiece for the losers while Tom Jones and Walker both snagged one.

Lions Maul Hose

The Lions mauled the Struthers' Hose squad last night 4-3. The victory was picked up by Mike Dudick and Kerry Olsen faced the defeat. Terry

City Ice Feels Heat In Slo-Pitch

By DAVE PIRILLO

Although the City Ice and Beverage sits in the driver's seat of the Slo-Pitch circuit the Towne and Country and Warren Sub Shop continue to keep the heat on. Both clubs gained a half-game on the idle Beaveragers in obtaining win number six. The night clubbers out-powered the Sheffield Tavern 13-4, while the Sub Shop came on strong in the final innings to drown the Surf Club, 10-3.

In other action around the league it was the DeVore's Key- stones coming up with a four-run fourth inning to down Local 469 of the State Hospital, 11-7. R.W. Norris broke a five game losing streak in hanging a 5-3 decision over Rex-Chain Belt. Mickey Dee, Bill Dudinack and Tom Westcott provided a power display for the Tavern dwellers when their bats rang out with five RBI's totaled on three homers.

Rex Graham used the support behind him to his convenience and scattered ten hits along the line. Lee Goldwaite absorbed the loss for Sheffield as his fifteen-hit pitching was too much for Sheffield to defend on.

Knuckling Don Baldensburger came on in the top of the fourth inning to lead the Sub Shop to their sixth win of the year in eight outings, as he blanked the Surfers on three hits and no runs over the final half of the encounter.

The Surf Club held a commanding 3-0 lead over their counterparts for three innings before the roof caved in, Baldensburger brought the club back into the game in the fourth with a towering three-run shot over the centerfield wall.

Chuck McDermott broke the 3-3 deadlock in the next inning with a two-run triple. "Skip" Armstrong kept the outburst moving into the last two innings with a pair of doubles.

DeVore's Keystone evened their record at 3-3 in over-taking the 469ers. Dave Holmberg was held for thirteen hits, but never-the-less hung on to get the mound win over Jan Priest.

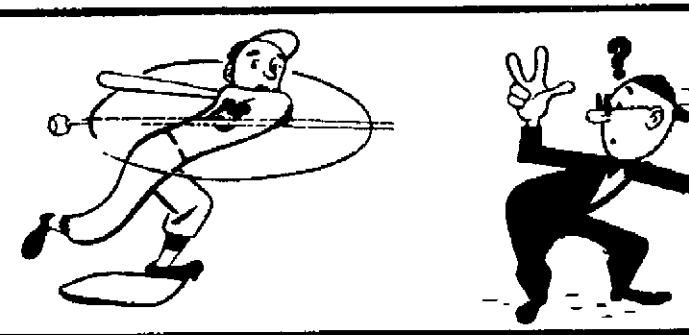

Gene Rolis led the hitting department for the victors in collecting a pair of triples and four big runs batted in. However, it was Gene Smith's three-run shot in the bottom of the sixth that put the game in the bag for the Keystones.

R. W. Norris broke a 3-3 deadlock in the top of the sixth to go on and win their first game of the year. Dave Engle twirled-six hit ball for the win. Dick Smith tripled and Marty Check doubled along the way to see that B. Jackson was credited with the loss.

Steve Wright Joins Giants

NEW YORK (AP) — Steve Wright, the offensive tackle who was acquired by the New York Giants in a trade with Green Bay, visited the Giants' office Tuesday and signed his contract.

Wright was with the Packers for four years.

Kiwanis Lose First

The North Warren Kiwanis lost their first game of the season last night as VFW downed the Kiwanis squad 10-6. Jim Higgins hurled the win while Kevin Fischer suffered the loss. Dick Davis came through at bat for VFW as he hugged a homer and a double. Dan Glessner smacked a triple and a double for the winners while John Pollock and Rodney Baker both smacked three-baggers.

WNB Downs NPC

Warren National Bank downed New Process Corporation last night in Midget action 7-4. John Siefert netted the victory for WNB while Charles Beckman was tagged for the NPC loss. Mike Griffith cracked a three-bagger for WNB while Steve Fisher and Siefert snagged doubles. Larry Mahanaga NPC their extra-base hit clubbing a three-bagger.

Zips Lose Speed

The Intermediate Post Office Zips lost some of their speed last night as Betts triumphed over the PO men 10-6. Mark Salerno hurled the victory while Don Sharp and John Belleau shared the loss. Doubles were batted for both the winners and losers as Joe Papalia snagged one for Betts and Tim Bow- ers cracked one for the zips.

Curtis Sets Oil Slick

Curtis Oil set up an oil-slick last night to catch the Russell Samaritans in a 2-5 slugfest. Mark VanOrd hurled the win for Curtis while a trio of hurlers, Mike Spicer, Ron Duck and Bruce Clark shared the loss. Nick Brumec was a real slugger at the plate for the winners as he smashed a homer, triple and double. John Johnson collected a double for Curtis. The winners also had Jake Lindell crack two doubles while Jay Lindell and Doug Moore each snagged one. Dick netted a round-tripper for the losers.

Wolfe Wins for Segel

Tom Wolfe, the winning pitcher, struck out 16 and hit a double as Segel and Son defeated the American Legion, 2-1. Ricky Sorensen was the losing pitcher. The winning run was scored in the last of the sixth and final inning.

Sports Boosters Win

Sheffield Sports Boosters knocked off Commercial Market of Clarendon, 5-2. Andy Moore was the winner and Tony Gerarde the loser. Mike Barr and Scott Bill tripled, while Ronny Kobar had a double.

Win for Wards

Wards trimmed Northwest Savings 10-0, outpitching NW, 14 to 11. Williams and Zinger were the winning batteries, while Torrance and O'Neill went down for the losers. For Wards, bagger while Brian Brennan Linman, two doubles, and Wamsley and Frye doubles. Extra base hits for the losers were: Torrance, two homers; The Tracy, two doubles, and slate.

Compounding a Felony

(C) 1968 N. Y. Times News Service

New York, June 11—How can one man measure another man's grief? It is something beyond measure and that's why the action of the Houston Astros in firing Rusty Staub and Bob Aspromonte a day's pay is reprehensible. Out of respect for the memory of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy and moved by a deep sorrow that no front office could possibly estimate, these two players refused to perform for their team on Sunday, a day of national mourning.

For this act of decency they were penalized and Baseball reeled under another staggering blow. Joe Brown, the general manager of the Pittsburgh Pirates, handled a similar situation more smartly. One of his players, Maury Wills, also refused to play that day but whatever action Brown took—if any—was kept secret.

"I talked to Maury," said Joe over the phone from San Francisco. "We had a meeting of minds and whatever happened will remain between him and me. He had a personal obligation to himself and another obligation to his employer. There is much to be said for both sides even though I just can't go into chapter and verse on what was involved."

The Pirate executive was pleasant but so guarded that even his tone of voice revealed nothing. However, he's been at his trade a long time and knows his way around.

Houston was all blunder. Spec Richardson is a rookie general manager serving under the dictatorial Judge Roy Hofheinz, owner of the Astros. They alienated a lot of people by taking economic sanctions against Staub and Aspromonte, compounding the felony by making it public.

Insubordination on the part of a player is a violation of his contract and lays him open to penalty. But these were unusual circumstances. They almost would seem to call for the same understanding that would normally be forthcoming if it had been the death of a close relative. Millions regarded Bobby Kennedy in that light.

What can be done about his cold-hearted assessment? According to Baseball Law, any appeal of such disciplinary action can only be initiated by the men so disciplined. There are four stages for such an appeal—1. The ball club; 2. John Gaberlin, labor-management adviser for the owners; 3. The League; 4. The commissioner, where the matter will be settled under binding arbitration. But the players must initiate it. This cannot be ordered from the top.

An observer has to believe that the Astros never did think the matter through clearly. They took the wrong time to take what would ordinarily be deemed proper action. No ball club—or any other organization, for that matter—can be subject to the whims of an employee, particularly one who has contracted his services.

That's why Joe Brown made a point of mentioning that if Wills had a personal obligation he also had one to his ball club. If the Pirate front office chief declined to disclose how he disposed of it, he at least showed an awareness of its existence.

What places the sport in such an unfavorable position is that emotions are so inescapably intertwined with the events of the weekend. An indignant Milt Pappas quit as player representative of the Cincinnati Reds when his teammates bowed to club pressure and went ahead with a game they didn't want to play.

Today a telegram reached him from Frank Mankiewicz, press aide and close friend of the murdered senator. It said:

"Please accept my personal admiration for your actions. Senator Kennedy indeed enjoyed competitive sports but I doubt that he would have put box office receipts ahead of national mourning under any circumstances." Similar telegrams also went to Staub, Aspromonte, Wills and Gil Hodges.

That's a scathing indictment of the baseball establishment and the unhappy diamond moguls have to feel that too many fans agree with it. What makes their position so untenable is that they had had warning enough of public reaction to national tragedy. Less than two months earlier they went through a similar shock, the assassination of Martin Luther King Jr.

It came just before opening day and postponements were forced on the owners by rebellious players. This latest one came just before a big money weekend, "Bat Day." For some teams it was on Saturday and others on Sunday, which is why there was no orderly single day of mourning.

Many insiders feel that William Dole Eckert, the commissioner, has become the scapegoat of this episode, taking a bum rap for not exerting powers he actually doesn't have. Only Judge Landis could snap the whip and make the club owners do his bidding. No other commissioner has been so privileged.

The two leagues are fighting between themselves over expansion, schedules, sub-division of leagues and everything else. Meanwhile they have permitted their image to get tarnished. Some sage wrote wise words many years ago, so wise that they can bear repeating.

"Baseball has to be the world's greatest game," he wrote, "otherwise it never could survive the men who run it."

Y-Bar-U Juniors Horse Show

Coming up this Sunday will be the Y-Bar-U junior horse show at the club grounds on the Scandia road. The activities are scheduled to start at 12 noon with the grand entry parade being the first listed event.

Other scheduled events include halter classes and several performance events. Among these will be pole bending, musical bags, clover leaf riding, egg race, western jump, western equitation for both over and under 12 years of age, bootrace and pleasure pony riding.

All riders under 18 years of age will be able to compete and the public is invited.

Club officials point out that there is ample room for picnicking under the trees, so the event offers an excellent opportunity for an all around family outing.

Outdoor Club Plans Tour Of Tionesta

Reports from members of the Allegheny Outdoor Club indicate that last Sunday's canoe trip from the Kinzua Dam to Crescent Park was a success with more than a dozen craft making the float.

Next Sunday Larry Stotz, former forest ranger, will conduct a tour of the Tionesta Scenic Area. Larry is well acquainted with both the history and scientific worth of this unique stand of virgin timber, so the trek should be highly interesting.

Both short and medium length nature trails are well marked so that each person can choose the extent of his walk among the giant trees.

Persons from the Warren area will meet at the courthouse parking lot at 1 p.m. to form a motor caravan to Ludlow where they will be joined by others from various parts of the county. At 2 p.m. the drive to the Tionesta Scenic Area will start from the Ludlow rendezvous.

PITCHING ROOKIE SIGNS WITH YANKS

The young man wearing the New York Yankee cap will pitch for them someday if his arm and luck hold out. He is Raymond J. DeRiggi, a junior at Seton Hall University. Lee McPhail, general manager of the Yankees, is helping with the fitting. Ray's contract has been assigned to Oneonta, N.Y., in the NYP League. He's a lefty.

Pros Will Do Well Playing First National Open Tennis

NEW YORK (AP) — The pros will collect the full $100,000 in prize money whether they win the titles or not in the first U.S. National Open tennis championships at Forest Hills Aug. 29-Sept. 8.

In making that than the $232,000 for the 1967 championships.

"It will be a crackerjack tournament," said Kelleher. "We'll have all of the leading pros from both the National Tennis League (NTL) and World Championship Tennis (WCT) as well as the leading amateurs."

"Judging by reaction to the first open tennis championships in Europe we should do very well. George MacCall, head of National Tennis League, told me that the French Open championships grossed $170,000."

Wally Boyer Now Penguin

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The Pittsburgh Penguins of the National Hockey League traded veteran defenseman Al MacNeil to the Montreal Canadiens Tuesday for center Wally Boyer.

It was the second trade involving Boyer since the close of the season. The Canadiens acquired him last month from Oakland, where he scored 13 goals and assisted on 20 others for 33 points.

MacNeil, the Penguins' second choice in last year's expansion draft, scored two goals and had 10 assists for 12 points.

Boyer, who also can play left wing, was Oakland's 6th draft choice last year. He had previous NHL experience with Chicago and Toronto.

Cubs Sign Two

CHICAGO (AP) — The Chicago Cubs Tuesday signed David Lee Lemonds, 20, lefthanded pitcher from the University of North Carolina, their No. 1 choice in last week's major league free agent draft.

Also signed as a 22nd draft choice was Rich Nye, 18, outfielder from Jacksonville, Fla. He is not related to regular Cub pitcher, Rich Nye, a University of California product.

which was three times more than it grossed the year before.

"And that was under the worst conditions — with the strikes, virtually no transportation and the gasoline shortage."

Kelleher said he already had definite commitments from the NTL for Rod Laver, Ken Rosewall, Pancho Gonzales, Roy Emerson, Fred Stolle, Andres Gimeno, and women pros Billie Jean King, Rosemary Casals, Francoise Durr and Ann Jones, and from the WTC for Dennis

Hornung Gets Mike

CHICAGO (AP) — Paul Hornung, former Golden Boy of the Green Bay Packers, will become a Chicago TV-radio sports-caster July 1.

Hornung, 32, nine-season Packer star back and the National Football League's Most Valuable Player in 1960-1961, will be a commentator for WBBM-TV, a CBS outlet.

Fast Pitch Tourney Planned in Erie

District 7 Fast Pitch softball teams will meet at Habursky's Cafe, 11th and Hess, Erie, at 7 p.m. Friday.

Fran DeSantis has asked any Warren team interested in the District 7 tourney to call him and save a trip. Frank may be reached at his home, Erie 455-5288, or at the Erie Times Sports Department.

Kickers Wanted; Age No Barrier

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The Pittsburgh Steelers are looking for kickers.

The National Football League club said it would hold an open tryout Sunday at Temple University Stadium in Philadelphia.

The Steelers are looking for place — kickers and punters, and a team spokesman said men of any age who think they can kick a football are welcome to the session.

Punting was a major weakness for Pittsburgh last year, and the Steelers also are fearful that place — kicker Mike Clark may retire.

GOLFING WITH Arnold Palmer

PLAYING SAND SHOTS FROM HILLY LIES

Too many golfers panic when they find their ball resting on a downhill or uphill slope in the bunker. A little knowledge about these shots can save you strain — both mentally and financially. All you must remember is that, on downhill lies, your club will encounter less sand than normal; on uphill lies, it must plow through more sand (see illustrations #1 and #2).

Because your club meets less sand on downhill lies, the normal tendency is to hit these shots too "thin." You must offset the lack of sand resistance by cutting farther behind the ball than normal. Do this and your shot will react as it would from a level lie.

On uphill lies, you must offset the increased sand resistance. Hit the sand closer to the ball than normal so that ball will pop out as readily as it would from a level lie.

Long Irons From The Rough, Pitching From Woods, Uphill and Downhill Lies — these and other shots are detailed for you in Arnold Palmer's booklet, "Trouble Shots." For your copy, send 20¢ and a stamped, self-addressed envelope to Arnold Palmer, in care of this newspaper.

Joe Burk Shuffles, Penn Gets Oarsmen

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — If Penn successfully defends its Intercollegiate Rowing Association Regatta title Saturday you can give credit to a deck of cards.

Coach Joe Burk, who seems bent on taking the coaching out of coaching, is the shuffler of this deck.

Burk, a former Diamond Sculls champion, always is searching for methods of selecting his crew which take the decision out of the coach's hands. A few years ago he invented a system of lights indicating the power behind the pull of each oarsman. Those with the highest power rating made the first shell.

This year Burk shuffled aside the lights and began dealing a new game. He placed the name of each candidate for the Penn crew on a playing card, shuffled the cards and then peeled them off in eights. Each eight was assigned to a shell.

The eights raced against each other every day on the Schuylkill River. Members of the winning boat each received three points, second two points and third one point. He filled his shells according to the point total.

"It's the fairest way to select your crews," said Burk as he prepared his varsity for defense of the 1 1/4 mile IRA title against such powers as Washington, UCLA, Stanford, Wisconsin, Princeton, Cornell and Navy.

"The judgment of the coach is eliminated," Burk explained. "I use the average based on the number of races to account for fellows missing practices because of sickness and late classes."

Mets Ink Carr

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Mets said Tuesday they have signed Charles Carr, a 20-year-old outfielder from the University of North Carolina, and Amador Alvarez, a 22-year-old pitcher from Southwest Texas College.

Carr was selected in last week's free agent baseball draft.

cause of sickness and late classes."

Burk said this system increased the incentive. He has discovered that in a tough spring some oarsmen get better while others start fast and end up lower on the point scale. "It keeps the kids working, because they know each week there's a new shuffle and nobody has a lock on a seat," he said.

The system has worked pretty well. Penn has lost only twice, both to Harvard, rated the nation's best bet for the eight.

oared Olympic Games competition. The first time Harvard won by a length, then by a length and a half.

Harvard won't be in the IRA. The Crimson instead will meet Yale in their traditional four mile race.

The IRA title isn't the only reason Penn oarsmen are trying to trump each other this week. Burk says their performance on Lake Onondaga at Syracuse, N.Y., will determine if they get a shot in the July 11, 12, 13 Olympic trials at Long Beach, Calif.

Allen and Mauch Feud; Phils Manager May Go

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The feeling here is the Rich Allen-Gene Mauch feud merely has been postponed, not resolved as owner Bob Carpenter of the Philadelphia Phillies stated the other day.

The lines have been clearly drawn. Carpenter, sooner or later, has to make a choice between his million dollar slugger and his capable manager.

This corner doesn't claim to be clairvoyant, but placing yourself in Carpenter's position, using head instead of heart, you have to conclude the manager is expendable. Unless the Phillies make a real run for the pennant, Mauch's days appear numbered.

Managers are a dime a dozen. Rich Allens come along once every 20 years or so. Forget the player's personality. Disregard his thinking. Keep in mind you have a .300-plus hitter who will belt 40 homers and drive in 100 runs each season almost as sure as the sun rises and sets. Even Gene Mauch probably would agree with this logic.

Mauch once said, "Rich Allen can do anything in baseball. Rich Allen wants to do. Well, Gene, Rich Allen wants to get rid of Gene Mauch. In this case, Muhammad is going to be sent to the mountain. A trade is a possibility, but doubtful. The other clubs know the troubles the Phillies have had with Allen. They'll take him, but won't pay the price he should bring.

Where does this leave general manager John Quinn? Mauch is Quinn's man. Allen isn't. The slugger from Wampum, Pa., and the general manager don't even talk. Allen has been miffed ever since Quinn tried to give him a conditional contract for this year because of the player's damaged hand.

"They'll pay an unproven high school kid a $100,000 bonus, and won't gamble on me," Allen grumbled. Relations between Allen and Quinn as well as Allen and Mauch have deteriorated to sullenness all around.

Answering the question on Quinn, one would have to guess that when Mauch goes, Quinn will quit. Carpenter will accept the resignation. His son, Ruly, is being groomed to take over the leadership of the Phillies any season now, and a new, young organization appears in the making. The prediction here is that changes will be from the top down, owner Bob to Manager Gene. Rich Allen really does wield a big bat.

Poor People's Campaign Appeals For White Support

WASHINGTON — Organizers of the mass demonstration planned here next week to support the poor people's campaign made a strong appeal Tuesday for broad white support.

The urgent call came from Sterling Tucker, the newly-named national coordinator of the June 19 demonstration.

"It is particularly important for non-poor Americans, especially non-poor whites, to present themselves in large numbers," Tucker said.

He said that such participation was necessary "to begin to suggest some new direction toward unity" among the races.

Just before Tucker made his appeal, the Rev. Ralph David Abernathy announced that he was calling together national religious, labor and civil rights leaders to ask their full participation in a demonstration that promises to become the high point of the poor people's campaign.

Minority Groups To Get Training In Construction

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — A program to recruit, train and place 695 minority group members in the heavy construction industry in Pennsylvania by 1970 was disclosed Tuesday by the U.S. Department of Labor.

Secretary of Labor Willard Wirtz, through the Philadelphia labor department office, said the Pennsylvania Heavy and Highway Bargaining Association, a management group, and District 50, United Mine Workers of America, a labor organization, have agreed to the plan.

Both will participate in the plan to find, train and then place minority group members as equipment operators, operating engineers. The plan calls for recruitment of 115 minority group members by the end of 1968, 280 in 1969 and 300 in 1970.

Wirtz said the labor department's Office of Federal Contract Compliance had accepted the plan, one of the first involving a multiple employer group. Association members, with federal assistance, will conduct the training program.

Plans call for trainees to earn $2.45 to $3.45 an hour and upon completion of the program $3.77 to $5.63 an hour.

Edward C. Sylvester Jr., head of the Office of Federal Contract Compliance, said a statement that employers are participating in the program will be accepted in lieu of compliance with the present federal plan to place minority groups in construction jobs.

East Germany Restricting Travelers

BERLIN (AP) — Red-ruled East Germany announced Tuesday sweeping restrictions on travel by West Germans in a drastic move foreshadowing a new Berlin crisis.

A top U.S. official called the measures intolerable and West Berlin's mayor labeled the move "a black day for all Germans."

In an apparent bold bid to achieve a large degree of sovereignty, the East German Communist regime said it will require West Germans for the first time to have passports and visas for travel between West Germany and isolated West Berlin.

There was no mention of official Allied travel through East Germany which is controlled by the Russians. The Soviet blockade of Berlin in 1948-49 began with stoppage of U. S. and British supply trains. The Allies broke the blockade with a historic airlift of 2.3 millions tons of food and fuel to Berlin.

The East Germans also announced complicated taxes on freight and transport mileage through East Germany and raised transit fees for those traveling land routes to and from West Berlin.

In Bonn, Eugene Rostow, U.S. undersecretary of state for political affairs, declared the travel restrictions are "going to be a serious situation . . . such a change from the present pattern can't be tolerated."

Rostow predicted there will be a joint Allied protest to the Soviet Union, which is held by the United States, Britain and France to be responsible for Berlin access.

The former German capital lies deep inside Soviet territory under occupation agreements of World War II. With the crisis of the late 1940s, the city was split into West and East Berlin. In 1961, the East Germans built a wall across Berlin to seal off the flow of thousands of refugees to the West.

In Vienna, West German Vice Chancellor Willy Brandt urged the Western Allies to "make it clear beyond doubt" that they will protect free access to West Berlin. Brandt, on a two-day visit to Austria, said East Germany's announcement "must be taken very seriously."

West Berlin Mayor Klaus Schuette went on television and declared, "This is a black day for all Germans. . . . This is a blow against free Berlin . . . a step of the Cold War . . . directed against all Germans."

He said he already had consulted with the deputy U.S. British and French commanders in West Berlin.

The new passport regulations were disclosed in a speech before the People's Chamber — parliament — in East Berlin by Interior Minister Col. Gen. Friedrich Dickel and those concerning the freight regulations in a speech by Assistant Finance Minister Horst Kaminsky. Both talks were reported by the official East German news agency ADN.

No date was given when the travel regulations would take effect. Kaminsky said the freight taxes would be effective July 1 and the increase in travel fees for individuals would be raised June 20.

West Germans now travel between West Berlin and West Germany on their identity cards.

The East Germans said the new regulations were necessary because of neo-Nazism and revenge-seeking in West Germany and because of the recent passing of what they labelled aggressive national state of emergency laws in West Germany.

Jurors Chosen In Galayda Murder Trial

UNIONTOWN, Pa. (AP) — Eight jurors have been selected in the murder trial of John Galayda, the man accused of shooting a West Virginia night club operator and stuffing his body in the trunk of an auto.

Attorneys selected the first juror Monday and seven more Tuesday.

Twenty-six persons are left in the original group of 85 prospective jurors. If the attorneys exhaust this panel, the court will appoint the county sheriff to call people in from the street for questioning and possible jury duty.

Galayda's trial reconvened this week after several days of delay to allow Judge John I. Munson time to study a recent U.S. Supreme Court opinion concerning murder trial juries.

The high court declared that persons with conscientious or religious objections to capital punishment could not be automatically excluded from the jury of a murder trial.

Galayda, 38, of Monessen is charged with murder in the death of Anthony Scottell of Westover, W. Va.

Judiciary Committee Sets Back Drive For Strict Gun Controls

(c) N.Y. Times News Service WASHINGTON — The administration drive for strict gun controls was set back in Congress Tuesday as the House Judiciary Committee, by a tie vote, refused to approve President Johnson's request for curbs on the sale of rifles and shotguns.

By a 16-16 vote, the committee became deadlocked over the administration's legislative proposal, submitted only Monday, to ban the mail-order sale of rifles and shotguns and to restrict the interstate sale of ammunition.

Johnson promptly described the committee deadlock as "a bitter disappointment to all Americans and to the President" and expressed "hope that the House Judiciary Committee will promptly reconsider this shocking blow to the safety of every citizen in this country."

There is no excuse whatever for failure to act to prohibit the interstate mail order sale of rifles," the President said in a statement issued by the White House. "Of the 2 million guns added each year to the arsenal already in the hands of millions of Americans, 1 million are sold by mail order houses in interstate commerce, and 30 per cent of the murders by firearms committed each year in this country are by rifle and shotgun fire."

There were indications that the setback in the House Judiciary Committee was only a temporary one. The committee decided to re-examine the controversial gun control issue on June 30, and the expectation was that the committee would then approve a modified version of the administration's bill.

The immediate opposition of some members was directed not so much at the administration's bill as at the fact that the committee had had insufficient time to consider the legislation, which reportedly was subjected to contradictory interpretations. In addition, there was a reluctance on the part of some members to act until they were certain that the President would sign the Crime Control Bill recently passed by Congress.

The crime control bill, which contains a provision prohibiting mail-order sales of handguns, apparently has become a political pawn in the battle developing over even stricter gun control legislation. The President has until June 19 to sign the legislation. Otherwise it is automatically vetoed.

By holding back on further gun control legislation, some congressional Republicans and conservative Democrats believe they have a lever to prevent a veto of the Crime Control Bill. By withholding his signature until the last moment, the President, in turn, is in a position to hold out a threat against the politically popular crime control bill if congress does not get moving on new gun control legislation.

Within the Judiciary Committee, a coalition of Republicans and southern Democrats formed in immediate opposition to the administration bill. All Democrats except the southerners reportedly voted for the bill. All Republicans voted against the bill. Except two who are running for statewide office — Charles McC. Mathias Jr. of Maryland, who is running for the Senate, and Arch A. Moore Jr. of West Virginia, who is running for governor.

Even if the Judiciary Committee reverses itself, the close division and coalition within the committee underscored the political difficulties confronting the administration's gun bill. The obstacles are probably greater in the Senate than in the House, although some administration officials believe House approval is still far from certain.

Sylvania Employees Pause and Reflect

In 1943 the United States was fighting a war on two fronts. Allied forces under Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower were battling in Italy while halfway around the world our fighting men were skipping from island to island in the South Pacific.

Robert Whitehill, a Warren boy, was discharged from the service in 1943. He came home looking for a job and on Nov. 5 was hired by the Sylvania plant that had just opened up here. He was the twentieth man employee.

Bob Whitehill started working in the shipping department and in his years at Sylvania has worked in all the Warren plants. In those early years the local plant produced mostly parts for incandescent lamps and radio tubes, Bob remembers.

The minuscule and multivarious parts produced in Warren today for sophisticated equipment not yet dreamed of in 1943 is a far cry from that first year in the old Hubbard garage on East ave.

The first winter was a cold one as Tom Gannon, a ten year veteran at the Emporium plant

Building Codes Continually Enforced

Enforcement of Warren's building codes continued during the month of May, according to Stuart Winerter.

Twelve rooming units were inspected for permits with one $25 permit issued. There were 94 dwelling units inspected both inside and out for area inspection and 16 violations of the housing code found.

Winerter re-inspected 32 dwellings for former violations with 22 violations corrected and 13 in the process of correction. Three buildings have been placarded.

Five hours were devoted to new construction inspection; 72 hours spent in office and 39 phone calls for information received.

Two inspections were made with the fire chief, one resulting in calling in the electrical inspector.

There were 26 building permits issued for a total value of $45,887.

House Fire Causes Damage Set at $1500

An early morning fire Tuesday in Clarendon Heights, caused an estimated $1,500 damage to a home owned by Dalton Sayers, 12 Pioneer st.

According to Leonard Falbriski, Clarendon Fire Chief, damage was contained to a portion of the attic and the ceiling of one bedroom when wiring in the Sayer home caught fire.

Fifteen men with four trucks from the volunteer fire department responded to the 7:39 alarm. Firemen were on the scene about two hours. No damage to the contents of the house was reported, according to Falbriski.

Alfred University (Alfred, N.Y.) Tuesday received a contribution from the General Telephone & Electronics Foundation covering a Fellowship grant which will be awarded to a candidate for an advanced degree in the field of ceramic engineering. The contribution was presented by Dr. Lee L. Davenport, President of General Telephone & Electronics Laboratories, Inc., and Dr. Lewis C. Butler, dean of the graduate school, Alfred University, Alfred, N.Y., with a check from the

SOCIAL Wanderings

by Marion Honhart

THE TWO WHEELER BRIGADE will be seen sweeping speedily along the Dorecon road tomorrow — weather permitting —. The bicyclists will be leaving the YWCA at 1:15 p. m., and for those with pre-school children, the YWCA offers a babysitting service (they ask that you call to make arrangements no later than tomorrow morning). Mrs. Joseph DeFrees has had to postpone most of the planned bicycle tours because of the bad weather, but she is now hopeful that, starting tomorrow, the weekly trips throughout the area countryside may be resumed regularly for the rest of the month. A luncheon trip is being planned for June 20th — the destination to be announced later, and, if there are those, hardy of lung and limb, who think it would be great to take longer two wheel tours, Mrs. DeFrees will gladly make arrangements.

THE GOLDEN WEDDING ANNIVERSARY of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Larson of Spring st., was honored by their daughter, Mrs. Robert Johnson, and their son, William Larson, who gave a dinner at the Robert Johnsons' residence. The Larsons were married in Brooklyn, N.Y., June 8, 1913 at the home of Mrs. A. E. Rhoades. For the anniversary dinner, table arrangements included the same dishes as were used on the occasion of their wedding dinner fifty years ago. White tapers and summer flowers completed the table appointments.

MARCONI BRIDGE CLUB THIS WEEK had eight tables in play. Average score for North-South was 84, with honors going to 1st—Mrs. Eric Wilkinson and Mrs. Shuri Glass, 107; 2nd—Mrs. Carl Hultberg and William Pollard, 98; 3rd—Mrs. Norman Young and Robert Larson of Jamestown, 95; 4th—Mrs. Marshall Johnson, Arthur DeLuca, 84½. The average score for East-West was 72, with honors as follows: 1st—Gust Bova and Harry Kopf, 82½; 2nd—Mrs. Robert Hahn and Fred Martin, 80½; 3rd—Dr. Robert Israel and Robert Sokolsky, 76½; 4th—Mrs. Myer Kornreich and Kermit Vicander, 73½.

MINIATURES: The Stoneham Ladies Aide Society will be entertained on Thursday afternoon at 1:30 at the home of Mrs. Clifford Park of Clarendon Heights. Mrs. Chester Kyler will be hostess, and Mrs. Mattie Peterson will have devotions. The Akeley-Briggs reunion will be held at Spencer's Grove, Klanton on Sunday, June 16th.

The WSCS of the Russell United Methodist Church has been postponed until July, when a picnic is planned.

The Lander Sunshine Club has been postponed during the month of June.

Ann Landers

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I got tired of hearing people say, "You have such a pretty face — If you lost some weight you'd be beautiful." So I went to my family doctor and asked him to put me on a strict diet. I shed 40 pounds in seven months.

So what am I writing about? Well, since I've lost weight I've also lost my fat girl friends. I shared my diet with them and kept urging them to stick with it but they didn't have the willpower. At first they seemed thrilled about my weight loss but as I began to look better they became cooler and cooler. The real break came when I started to date some very attractive men. It's hard for me to believe that my friends are jealous yet I don't know how else to figure it. Do you? — THE NEW ME

DEAR NEW: Success can be awfully hard to take — particularly somebody else's. Those dames were not friends. They were merely acquaintances with whom you once shared a common misery. You've lost nothing of value.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am employed in a large office. The man who clears all down payments has been helping himself to money. He confided that he started by taking small amounts for a day or two to tie him over a personal "crisis." Now he takes larger amounts for longer periods.

I have access to the books but have never had any reason to check them. I'm afraid one day he will be discovered before he has a chance to set the books right. This has caused me sleepless nights because now that I'm aware of what's going on I have what is known as "guilty knowledge." I don't know why he cut me in on his maneuverings and I wish he hadn't. Should I go to the boss, or to his wife, or keep my trap shut and hope for the best? — TOO MUCH INFO

DEAR TOO MUCH: Your co-worker is committing the crime of embezzlement and the fact that so far he has made restitution periodically doesn't change the situation. It's your duty to tell the boss what's going on and leave it to him to decide whether to give Mr. Sticky Fingers another chance.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: If you don't want to print my letter please put a check in either of the boxes I have drawn at the bottom of the page and return it to me in the enclosed envelope. One box is marked SHE PAYS. The other box is marked YOU PAY AND FORGET IT.

I have a cleaning woman who is unbelievable. If she had one more brain she would be an idiot. This dumbbell has worked for me for six years. Don't ask me how I have stood it.

Yesterday she tried to do me a favor and save 15 cents worth of soap powder. She overloaded my washing machine and burned out the motor. The repair bill is going to be out of this world.

Should the woman pay for the damage or not? Please check the square and I will do as you say. — EMPLOYER OF A NUMBSKULL

DEAR EMPLOYER: I am checking "YOU PAY AND FORGET IT." Everyone who has domestic help must expect some breakage over a period of time.

Even smart and careful housewives have been known to break things once in a while so don't be so hard on your cleaning woman.

Alcohol is no shortcut to social success. If you think you have to drink to be accepted by your friends, get the facts. Read "Booze and You — For Teen-Agers Only," by Ann Landers. Send 35 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope with your request.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Eagles Aux. Installs Officers For 68-69 at June 4th Meeting

At the June 4 meeting of the Fraternal Order of Eagles Ladies' Auxiliary, officers for 1968-69 were installed. Betty Pees served as installing president and Eleanor Larson as conductress.

The new officers are Wilma Cook, president; Virginia Davis, vice president; Laura Farnsworth, secretary; Joyce Rapp, treasurer; Margaret Mays, conductress; Romaine Hamblin, Louise Bailey, and Clara Sikstrom, trustees; and Ruby Cook, past president.

It was announced that the District Meeting will be held in Grove City on June 23, and that the positions of chaplain and inside guard are vacant. Nominations for these chairs will be made at the next meeting. Laura Farnsworth and Betty Pees were chosen as delegates to the state convention, scheduled to be this month in Pittsburgh.

The new president, Wilma Cook, then presented Retiring

Suzanne Lutz Wed June 8 To Bernard James May, Jr.

On Saturday, June 8, Suzanne Ellen Lutz became the bride of Bernard James May Jr. in the presence of one hundred twenty-five guests at the First Presbyterian Church in Warren. The Rev. Donald Spencer performed the double ring candlelight ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Lutz, 11 Central Avenue, Warren. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard James May, 45-15 171st Street in Flushing, New York.

The bride was escorted on the arm of her father. She wore a formal gown of white Irish linen. The fitted bodice was enhanced by a scoop neckline and short sleeves encircled with Cluny lace. A linen band highlighted the empire waist line and Cluny lace encircled her A-line skirt. A removable chapel length train graced her waist. The bride's headpiece was held in place by a white three-tiered veil of silk illusion. The bridal bouquet was a combination of gladiolus and stephanotis with a background of ivy.

Miss Carole Cleveland of Warren was maid of honor. She wore a spring green floor length sleeveless gown of linen texture, and a Dior bowheadpiece. The bridesmaid, Miss Patricia Hall of Framingham, Massachusetts, was dressed identically to the maid of honor.

Mr. Edward Cunningham Jr. of Flushing, New York, served as best man. Ushers were Peter Lutz, brother of the bride; Steven Tway of Grove City, Ohio; and John Mallon of Flushing. The mother of the bride wore a three-piece mint green silk shantung suit. The groom's mother appeared in a beige lace coat and dress ensemble. The grandmother of the bride, Mrs. William E. Lutz, was remembered with a corsage.

A reception was held at the Y.W.C.A. Aides were Mrs. Gerould Ostergard, Mrs. David Jordan, Mrs. Glenn Werner, and Mrs. Beyer Africa, all of Warren; and Mrs. Truman Stelle of Hyattsville, Md. Miss Ann Culbertson was in charge of the guest book.

The new Mrs. May chose a red, white, and blue coat and dress ensemble for traveling to Trinidad. Following their honeymoon, the couple will do summer teaching in Rio de Janeiro. After September 10, they will reside at 32 Benefit Street, Worcester, Massachusetts.

Mr. May, a Miami University graduate, served two years in the Peace Corps in Thailand, and is now enrolled in the Graduate School of Geography at Clark University in Worcester, Mass. Mrs. May, a 1962 graduate of Warren Area High School, is a Western College for Women graduate and has been assistant director of admissions since 1966.

Pre-nuptial affairs were given by Miss Carole Cleveland and Mrs. Lloyd Cleveland, Mrs. Beyer Africa and Mrs. Nell Culbertson. The rehearsal dinner was given by the groom's parents at the Three Flags Inn. A breakfast preceding the wedding was hosted by the grandparents of the bride, Mr. and

Lutheran Women Honor Pastor at St. Paul Church

The Lutheran Church Women met recently at St. Paul's Lutheran Church, with the men of the congregation as their guests. Mr. Robert Gustafson presided over an informal program honoring Pastor Carl Nelson on the twenty-fifth anniversary of his ordination.

Howard Whitesort, vice president of the Church Council, presented a stereo tape player to Pastor Nelson on behalf of the congregation. Following the program, the members of the congregation enjoyed refreshments in the church parlors. Hostesses were: Mrs. Nels Palmquist, chairman; Mrs. John Bjorkquist, Mrs. Charles Decker, Mrs. Richard Hause, Mrs. Laverne Mathis, Miss Kay Mathis, Mrs. Erick Nystrom, Mrs. Folke Odmark, Mrs. Clarence Pearson, Mrs. William Welsh and Miss Patty Welsh.

During the business part of the meeting, members and guests were invited to see the table of Critisms made by the Lutheran Church Women; anyone wishing to work on these during the summer months is asked to contact Mrs. John Bjorkquist, 9 Park Street, Warren.

Mrs. Rawlston Dinges was in charge of devotions, followed by an illustrated lecture by Mr. Carl Sacherich on "Theological Education Today." He presented slides of the Lutheran Theological Seminary at Gettysburg, Penna.

The week of July 7-13 has been set for the LCW to visit the Lutheran Home in Kane and to conduct a program there. The July meeting will be held as a family picnic at Wilder Field on July 1 at 6:30 p. m.

DAR on Wednesday

General Joseph Warren chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution will meet tomorrow at 2 o'clock in the hospital room of the Northwest Savings and Loan. Mrs. Orlo G. Johnson, regent, will preside at the business meeting when annual reports will be given by officers and committee chairmen.

There will also be a memorial service for departed members. Mrs. Howard Andersen and her slate of officers will be installed in office. Hostesses will be Mrs. Quentin Holt and Mrs. O. H. Baird.

TIMOTHY J. BAKER

The largest graduating class in the history of Baldwin-Wallace College, Berea, Ohio, received degrees at the 118th Commencement Ceremonies on Sunday, June 9. Among the 530 graduates was Timothy J. Baker who received a Bachelor of Arts degree in Economics.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Baker of RD 1, Clarendon, he is a 1964 graduate of Warren Area High School. Mr. Baker holds membership in the social fraternity Alpha Tau Omega.

WHICH ROSE TO GROW? A rose is a rose, but suppose you're new at the gardening game and are in doubt about the kind to grow? A March Family Circle feature gives the following definitions:

HYBRID TEA is what most of us think of when we think roses. This is the tall dignified flower with the elegant bud, wide bloom, beautiful color, and, sometimes, fragrance. It is a cross between the true tea rose (Rosa odorata) and the hybrid perpetual. True tea roses are not grown widely (except possibly in the south), and hybrid perpetuals are not popular (except for one handsome white variety, Frau Karl Druschki).

FLORIBUNDAS have clusters of roses on sturdy stems. They were developed in the '30s and were the result of crossing hybrid teas with polyantha roses, which have small clusters of flowers. The name "floribunda" means "many flowers," and these trustworthies keep blooming all summer. Many varieties have blooms like those of small hybrid teas. The floribundas are good for mass plantings, long borders, and hedges, and they cut well.

CLIMBERS grow with long canes that require some kind of support — trellis, fence, or wall.

SHRUB roses are big plants—vigorous growers with a splash of bloom early in the season. Some have recurrent bloom. They are mainly grown by collectors and rose hobbyists.

Two new soups for children are now on your grocery shelves. Chicken noodle's and tomato-beef noodle's soups have spoonable, spillable non-skid noodles—so there's never a slip 'twixt the bowl and the lip.

Society

Presbyterians Sponsor Camp To Replace Vacation School

The First Presbyterian Church Sunday School will set up a full day camp program instead of the usual vacation church school this summer. This program is being sponsored by the Church and Society committee of the Church. Included will be music, crafts, art, nature study, discussion groups, hiking, dancing, sports, and a tutorial program for students desiring remedial reading help. The committee is asking that each local family sending children to the two-week camp contribute $5.00 toward food and equipment costs. The program will run Monday through Saturday, August 11-24. Campers will meet at the First Presbyterian Church at 9 a.m. each morning. Three evenings a week they will be returned there at 5:30 p.m., while the other three evenings will include a cookout, a campfire, and vespers. Each camper should have the chance for at least one overnight campout at the Camp Kirkwood location. This summer program is being jointly sponsored by two inner-city Pittsburgh churches, Melrose Avenue and Faith Presbyterian. Rev. William E. Johnson, pastor of these churches, has asked that provision be made for 75 inner-city children in Warren for the thirteen-day period. Homes are needed that would provide a bed, a few meals and, most importantly, personal concern and acceptance from sincere people. Committee members would welcome hearing from any family that would be willing to house a child on this basis. Parents who wish to enroll their own children in the day camp should contact the church office, or Mrs. Walter Bergler, Mrs. George Templeton Jr., Mrs. T. K. Stratton, Mrs. James Potter, or Mrs. Lawrence Sowles.

Methodist Youth Take 6-Day Trip In Mountains

Twenty-three youth from the First United Methodist Church left Warren on Monday, June 10, at 8 a. m. for a six-day trip to the southern mountains. There they will have an opportunity to visit some of the national mission projects of the Methodist Church.

First stop for the group will be Scotts Run Settlement, Osage, West Virginia, where they will stay overnight. On the second day they will visit Buchanan, W. Va., where they will take a tour of Wesleyan College. Next the MYF group will be guests of the Johnson Memorial Methodist Church MYF in Huntington, W. Va. The West Virginia group will take the Warrenites on a picnic, serving West Virginia poverty food, and then the group will camp overnight in the church.

Olive Hill, Kentucky, is the third day's destination; they are scheduled to tour the Cascade Caverns before going on to the Henderson Settlement in Pineville, Ky. At the Hendersonville Settlement, where they will stay the fourth day, a work-bee has been set up to allow the MYF to work along with the youth of the Settlement.

On the fifth day they will leave Pineville for Charleston, W. Va., to be the guests of St. Mark's Methodist Church; they will stay in the church overnight. They expect to reach home on the sixth day by 5 or 6 p. m.

To make the trip possible, the MYF have been sponsoring bake sales, dinners, and rummage sales. Serving the group as counselor and adviser is Mrs. Rex Graham; other counselors and chaperones for the trip are Mrs. Eugene O'Neill, Mrs. Edward Place, Miss Sally Thoma, and Mr. Richard Hofer.

THE ANCHORMEN TONIGHT

Tonight at 7:30 the Anchormen, a Baptist Bible Seminary quartet, will present a program of hymns and gospel music at Tidoute Baptist Church. Members of the group are (left to right) David Miller, bass; Chris Hindal, second tenor; Roger Killian, baritone; and Fred Whitman, first tenor. The public is invited by the pastor of the church, the Rev. William Irwin.

Hints From Heloise

DEAR HELOISE:

I save all the plastic wraps from packages and cut some into strips to support my philodendrons.

The strips are strong, easy to tie and don't strangle the plant like some cords or wire may do.

Leona Brose

DEAR HELOISE:

When storing winter clothes and blankets for the summer, I always put a bar or two of my favorite soap in the box with the clothes. They come out next fall with a fresh smell instead of a stored-away odor.

Lois

LETTER OF LAUGHTER

DEAR HELOISE:

After years of waiting, I finally got a new stove. It was so pretty I didn't want to use it. I told my husband we would have to eat out because I didn't even want to get it dirty.

Now what do I do? Annie

AT THE INN OF THE THREE FLAGS

Mrs. Marjorie Davison, head teacher of the Clarendon school, presents a gift to retiring teacher Mrs. Retha Larson. Mrs. Larson has completed 34 years of teaching in the Warren area. Mrs. Bernice Champion, third from left, also receives a retirement gift from Mrs. Gwen Maurer, head teacher at Lincoln School. Mrs.

Champion has taught in this area for 25 years, and in Clarion County for 10 years. The dinner was sponsored by the Allegheny Valley teachers at the Inn of the Three Flags on May 10. The two teachers were also entertained at the Driftwood Supper Club in Jamestown.

THE BARBERSALS

New Director For Sweet Adelines

Beverly Petersen has been appointed chorus director of the Warren Chapter of Sweet Adelines for the coming year. Chapter President Joyce Hishman announced that Sue Houston, director for the past two years, found it necessary to take a leave of absence from the position because of her Regional Sweet Adeline responsibilities. She will assume the duties of assistant director.

An active member since joining Sweet Adelines, Bev has been assistant director, Chapter President, show co-chairman, bulletin editor, Regional Council member, and has participated in quartetting; presently she is singing baritone with the "Barbersals."

Beverly steps up to the position with extensive musical background and ability. She is choir director at the Emanuel United Church of Christ, teaches piano and organ, was active in Philomel and Little Bach societies, and taught music at Beaty Junior High School for several years.

Pass Pass Pass 5 ♦

Opening lead: Five of ♠
West's substandard overcall of one spade backfired in a strange manner in the above hand.

After North's free bid of two clubs, South made a strong effort to reach slam by cue bidding West's suit and then jumping in diamonds. When North refused to cooperate with South's slam tries, the latter reluctantly settled for a game.

West, influenced perhaps by his opponent's cue bid in spades, chose to open the five of hearts, which placed considerable pressure upon the declarer. With some other lead, South can draw trumps, take a club finesse in either direction, and subsequently use the ace of hearts to enter dummy for a spade discard on the established jack of clubs. He can hardly fail to win 11 tricks—7 diamonds, 2 clubs, 1 heart, and 1 spade.

The heart opening, however, deprives South of his reentry to the North hand, before a second club trick has been established. If he plays the ace of hearts, draws trumps, and subsequently takes a club finesse, the final result will be a two-trick set. After East takes the king of clubs, South must still lose three spades.

Declarer realized his predicament, and after a careful analysis he uncovered a plan that made allowance for the king of clubs being offside. At trick one, he played the 10 of hearts from dummy! East won the trick with the queen and made the natural shift to his singleton six of spades.

South played the ace and then cashed the ace of diamonds. When the queen dropped from West's hand, declarer drew the remaining trump and proceeded to take the club finesse. East was in with the king; however, he had no safe exit. Whether he returned a club or a heart, North must regain the lead and South is able to discard his three losing spades on the ace-queen of clubs and the ace of hearts.

Had East continued with a heart at trick two, declarer would have been unable to effect his plan; however, he had nothing to lose by trying. The one spade overcall had marked West with at least a five-card suit, so that East had at most one spade. When he wins the opening lead, the temptation to shift to his singleton is hard to resist; and, once South strips out the diamonds, the club finesse can be taken with complete assurance.

Your Horoscope

By Frances Drake

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

FOR WEDNESDAY, JUNE 12, 1968

ARIES (March 21 to April 20)—Don't "follow the crowd" when your own gifts of leadership are so great. With your unusual ingenuity and originality, you can put this day far out of the ordinary.

TAURUS (April 21 to May 21)—Avoid a tendency toward indifference. You may feel "lukewarm" about some suggestions proffered, but look into them, anyway. They COULD prove of value.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21)—There will be plenty of opportunities to advance your status now, but you may have to ferret out some for yourself. With your know-how, this should be easy — and you'll enjoy it.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23)—A favorable day, on the whole, but do not be heedless or let "little" things go unattended. You should make fine headway in some areas.

LEO (July 24 to August 23)—Tendencies to avoid now: Restlessness and scattering your energies. Don't make agreements impulsively, but remember that "little ventured, little gained." Recognize advantages, pursue aims in a steadfast manner.

VIRGO (August 24 to September 23)—You may run into some incompetence and ill will now, but curb the Virgin's tendency to be overly critical when others fail to live up to his ideals. Instead, display your most ingratiating side. It will work wonders!

LIBRA (September 24 to October 23)—Especially favored now: Business matters, the development of new and better tactics and systems. Re-examine recent ideas and plans.

SCORPIO (October 24 to November 22)—Greatly improved influences to help those of you who have energies, disposition and general set-up under control. Especially favored: Arts, crafts and all activities requiring manual dexterity.

SAGITTARIUS (November 23 to December 21)—Mild influences. Plan and execute an efficient program, devoid all clutter. Pay special attention to details and figures.

CAPRICORN (December 22 to January 20)—Think constructively and reckon with all possible eventualities before undertaking any new enterprise. In fact, this day will be far better for routine matters than it will for unusual undertakings.

AQUARIUS (January 21 to February 19)—Look below the surface for leads which will help you to solve problems; get ahead faster in your occupation. A good day for home and family concerns.

PISCES (February 20 to March 20)—Stellar influences excellent for constructive action. If judicious plans have already been made, carry them out diligently; make some, if you note a stalemate to progress.

YOU BORN TODAY: Being extraordinarily versatile, you might be called a "Jack of all trades" but, unlike "Jack," you can master any to which you set your mind and heart. You are imaginative, a protagonist in the arts, a poet at heart, though you attain your goals in a most practical way. Even though given to impulsiveness, you usually turn in top performances. With a buoyant nature, you instinctively look for all that is good and interesting in the world and, because you expect to find it, you usually do. Birthdate of: Sir Anthony Eden, Brit. statesman.

How to Keep Well

By Dr. T. R. Van Dellen

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is inclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

CONGESTIVE HEART FAILURE

A heart is tougher than many of us realize. The organ is chiefly muscle, and its sole function is to pump blood. A momentary rest between beats is enough to keep the structure going day and night, year after year. Even though handicapped by a leaky valve, high blood pressure, or a weakened muscle, the organ continues to do its job, unless it is overworked.

But there is a limit to the strain it can take, and signs of failure occur when satisfactory circulation of blood throughout the body cannot be maintained. This may be the first clue that all is not well. When the organ fails to deliver its quota of blood, lung congestion develops, leading to shortness of breath.

At first, the individual becomes winded on walking; later, this symptom is present even when lying flat in bed. Sleeping on two or three pillows is more comfortable and occasionally the victim is forced to sit on the side of the bed so he can breathe. When the failing heart cannot pass along blood entering from the veins, congestion occurs in the legs, liver, and abdominal organs leading to dropsy.

Swelling usually begins in the ankles, because blood gravitates to the lowermost parts of the body. Initially, dropsy is of mechanical origin. But, in time, the sluggish flow of blood interferes with the excretion of salt, which in turn encourages fluid to accumulate.

Unless treatment is started, the individual becomes more and more short of breath and dropsical; 20 to 40 pounds may be gained due to water-filled tissues. The victim becomes fearful that each breath is his last.

Modern treatment is little short of miraculous. Breathing is facilitated by bed rest and oxygen; digitalis slows the heart rate and increases the strength of each beat. Respiration improves and signs of anxiety disappear.

Salt is taboo. Diuretic tablets encourage excretion of sodium, and with it large amounts of water are eliminated. There is a corresponding drop in weight; some lose 35 pounds (of water) in 10 days.

TOMORROW: Two Types of Hepatitis.

Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request.

PRE-ARRANGED BIRTH

REPLY

Labor pains occur, but they are said to be better tolerated when the mother knows what to expect and how to use them to her advantage. The aim is to have the woman go to the delivery room with equanimity and confidence so that labor will be shorter and more efficient.

WAYS TO KEEP COOL

K.H.D. writes: What is the answer for a person who becomes tired, disagreeable, and nauseated when the temperature goes above 90°?

REPLY

A mint julep is an old southern remedy. It may be healthier to sit in an air conditioned room or go swimming. If this is an annual affair take a summer vacation in the north woods.

TASTY AND COLORFUL

Swing into summer by offering family or friends a platter of open Danish sandwiches. Serve them a Tivoli platter of the Danish delicacies.

Serve a Smorgasbord Of Danish Open Sandwiches

For the perfect party fare ... offer a smorgasbord of Danish open sandwiches. They are as tasty as they are colorful and eye-catching. Bright garnishes of cheese sticks, cherry tomatoes, egg slices, pickle chips, radish and cucumber slices attract the initial attention. But, the savory flavors of the luncheon meats used will be the lasting impression.

The delicate yet distinctive flavor of ham, ... and the full-flavor of hard salami will ring through when layered on bread spread with creamery butter and topped with a crisp lettuce leaf.

The Danish open sandwiches are ideal for entertaining! Offer a Tivoli sandwich platter for card parties, receptions, graduation celebrations or simply as fourth meal snacks. For a fast deal at your next card party ... assemble a platter of these party sandwiches. On the relish tray, add a bright accent by wrapping green onions with slices of pickle loaf luncheon meat.

KING CRAB LOUIS

Cool Crab Louis has generous portions of Alaska King crab topped a mound of shredded iceberg lettuce, then garnished with ripe olives and wedges of tomato, hard-cooked egg and lemon. Serve with a special Louis Dressing.

Cool Eating for Hot Days

Since its creation years ago by a chef of a private Seattle club, Crab Louis has been a favorite in West Coast restaurants. Now, with the availability of Alaska King crab you can enjoy this sumptuous American creation in your own home. It's a taste-tempting meal for a special luncheon or a wonderful dinner entree on those "too-hot-to-cook" days. A fluffy pink Louis Dressing tops tender slices of Alaska King crab on a bed of crisp shredded Western iceberg lettuce. Garnishes of tomato, hard-cooked egg, lemon and large ripe olives give added color to the already colorful King crab. Serve it as icy cold as the frigid Alaskan coastal waters which produce this magnificent seafood.

Alaska King crab is easily recognized by the brilliant outside red coloring surrounding delicate white meat. Purchased in cans or frozen, it is always completely cooked and tender-free.

Bring the coolness of the Pacific to your table with Alaska King crab. Wonderful as it is in salads, don't limit it just to that. It makes delicious eating in appetizers, soups, sandwiches and casseroles.

KING CRAB LOUIS
2 (7-1/2 oz.) cans Alaska King crab or 1 pound frozen Alaska King crab
Western iceberg lettuce
Louis Dressing (recipe below)
Tomato wedges
2 hard-cooked eggs, quartered
Lemon wedges
Ripe olives
Chill and drain canned crab

Radishes, thinly sliced
Sour cream
Sweet pickle chips
Cherry tomatoes
Cucumber slices
Chives
Capers

Butter generously each slice of bread. Top each slice with a lettuce leaf. On six of the slices, add a slice of boiled ham that has been folded into thirds. Garnish two of the ham sandwiches with three slices of hard-cooked egg and capers. Top two with radish slices and sour cream, and two with a wooden pick skewered with a sweet pickle chip, a cherry tomato, and a Cheddar cheese cube. Cut four slices of the hard salami in half. On the remaining six slices of bread, place one whole slice of salami folded in half. Add another half slice of salami and garnish two of the sandwiches with Swiss cheese strips. Garnish two more with a cucumber slice topped with sour cream. And top the last two with a wooden pick skewered with a sweet pickle chip, a cherry tomato and half a salami slice, folded in half.

+ Recipe developed using Cloverbloom Butter, Armour Star Hard Salami, Armour Star Boiled Ham, Cloverbloom Swiss Processed Cheese, Sliced Cubed Miss Wisconsin Sharp Aged Cheddar and Cloverbloom Eggs.

LOUIS DRESSING
1 cup mayonnaise
1/2 cup chili sauce
2 teaspoons horseradish
1/4 cup sweet pickle relish
2 tablespoons chopped green onion
2 tablespoons lemon juice
1 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon pepper

Blend ingredients and chill. Makes approximately 2 cups dressing.

DRESS UP A HAM SLICE ... with an apricot glaze. Merely top a center cut slice of fully cooked ham with this glaze—1/2 cup apricot juice, 1 tablespoon lemon juice, 1 cup brown sugar, and 1 teaspoon dry mustard. Bake until brown. Add a few banana halves on top of the glaze and bake another 5 minutes.

Cut stars, numbers, or any intriguing shapes from slices of process cheese and float on top of tomato soup to spark youngster's appetites.

V-8 SPARKLING PUNCH

Plan a party for easy elegance. Serve the sparkling V-8 punch in your gift to the bride-to-be, along with the recipe. Other guests bring favorite recipes in suitable containers.

Give a Recipe Bridal Shower

Bridal showers reign supreme as ladies' entertainment this month. As a hostess for one of these gay occasions, though, there are times that are not so gay—the planning.

Take this tip from a long line of shower hostesses and plan the party for easy elegance. A quick, but glamorous "V-8" punch—the eight garden vegetable flavor of "V-8" vegetable juice blended with lime juice and quinine water—will do the trick as a delicious main attraction for the table. Use the large 48-ounce can of "V-8" for added convenience.

Individual open-face sandwiches — perhaps crab and olive, cream cheese topped with pimiento, and parsley — butter and shrimp — are complimentary accompaniments. Make them early in the day and hold fresh in the refrigerator.

Your gift to the bride... the "V-8" Sparkling Punch recipe and an attractive pitcher or punch bowl to serve "V-8". Ask other guests to bring copies of their favorite recipes wrapped with a utensil necessary for preparing or serving their choice.

There you have it; an easy, elegant party with refreshments, theme and your shower gift all centered around rosy "V-8" vegetable juice.

"V-8" SPARKLING PUNCH
1 can (48 fl. oz.) "V-8" juice, chilled
1 bottle (10 ounces) quinine water, chilled
3 tablespoons lime juice
Lime slices
Combine all ingredients except lime slices. Serve in chilled glasses; garnish with lime slices. Makes 12 servings.

BARBECUED CHICKEN

For a special barbecue treat, broil chicken to golden tenderness, brushing frequently with spicy marinade made from syrup of canned purple plums. Serve the tart sweet canned plums as a relish with the chicken.

Purple Plums Play Dual Role in Outdoor Bar B-Q

One of the nicest things about summer is the outdoor barbecue. Food couldn't taste nor smell better, and appetites abound! The secret to this tantalizing chicken barbecue is found in a can or jar of purple plums.

Delightfully tart-sweet canned purple plums make two starring appearances at this patio supper. A sprightly-sweet and sour sauce featuring the plum syrup is the basting-sauce for the chicken. And, the plump juicy purple plums are marinated in the same good ingredients to accompany the meal.

Sparkling plum syrup drained from the canned plums is first flavored with wine vinegar, pickling spices and a hint of garlic. This is heated and then poured over the purple plums and crisp onion rings. Next day, the flavorful marinade with the addition of oil is used to baste the chicken during the barbecuing.

As the chicken cooks over the coals, turn it often and baste it frequently with the Plum Sauce. And don't hurry the cooking. The result will be beautifully glazed chicken, crisp on the outside, tender and juicy inside.

Versatile canned purple plums star on so many occasions. Prepare a hot plum-topped coffee cake to bring morning appetites alive. Or serve frosty plum parfaits as a glorious finale to dinner.

PURPLE PLUM BARBECUED CHICKEN
1 (1 lb.) can or jar purple plums
1 medium onion, sliced
1 clove garlic, crushed

2 tablespoons wine vinegar
1 teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon pickling spices
1/4 cup salad oil
1 frying chicken, cut-up
Drain plums, reserving syrup. Separate onion slices into rings and add to plums. Combine plum syrup with garlic, vinegar and salt in small saucepan. Tie pickling spices in cheesecloth bag and add to syrup. Heat just to boiling. Pour over plums. Cover and marinate overnight in refrigerator. Remove plums and onion from marinade. Discard cheesecloth bag. Add salad oil to marinade. Place chicken pieces on an oiled grill, skin side up, about 6 to 8 inches above hot coals. Brush with plum syrup marinade. Cook chicken until tender, turning and basting frequently. Season with salt and pepper. Serve marinated plums and onion rings in a relish dish or use them to garnish the Plum Barbecued Chicken.

SOUP SHORTS
Serve cups of hot consomme as a mealtime beverage with an otherwise cold summer meal.

To make Chili Dogs for Quick family lunches, combine 1 can chili beef soup with 1/3 cup water. Place 4 cooked frankfurters in toasted buns. Spoon soup mixture on frankfurters.

Hearty soupmates are man pleasers all year round. Combine 1 can each condensed bean with bacon and minestrone with 2 cans water. Heat; stir. Serves 4 to 6.

By SARAH M. SMITH

The June meeting of the Philanthropic Bible class of the Clarendon Methodist Church was held on Tuesday evening in Fellowship Hall, starting with a tureen dinner with ten members and one guest present. Following the dinner the president, Mrs. Martha Schneider, opened the business meeting. She also conducted the devotion, her opening hymn "I NEED THEE EVERY HOUR" was followed by prayer and the reading of an article, "Combining the Lord's Prayer and the Creed of Different Denominations".

During the business session routine reports were heard and accepted and the following officers elected to serve for the coming year: president, Mrs. Martha Schneider; vice president, Mrs. Mary Campbell; secretary, Mrs. Gladys Burns; and treasurer and flower fund secretary, Mrs. Austrid Ecklund. Mrs. Sarah Smith was appointed to prepare the programs for the coming year. Mrs. Grace McBride then entertained with a quiz program after which the class disbanded for the summer. The next meeting is scheduled for September 3.

A number of parishioners of St. Clara's Church of Clarendon and St. Anthony of Sheffield, motored to Edinboro, Pa., on Sunday, June 2, to attend the 25th Ordination Anniversary of Father Francis Tushim, pastor of Our Lady Of The Lake Catholic Church in Edinboro. Father Tushim was a former pastor of St. Clara's and St. Anthony's Church in Clarendon and Sheffield. A reception was held from 2 to 4 p. m. and a Concelebrated Mass offered in honor of the 25th ordination anniversary of Father Tushim to the priesthood. Monsignor Gannon and fellow priests, plus relatives and many parishioners and friends attended. Our Lady Of The Lake Church, Center and Rectory were beautifully decorated with red carnations and palms for the festive and memorable occasion.

Twenty-one members of the WinOne class of the Methodist Church motored to Kane on Thursday evening and enjoyed a dinner at the Hillcrest Restaurant. A business session followed with the following officers being elected to serve for the coming year: president, Mrs. Ethel Bullock; vice president, Mrs. Kay Jones; secretary, Mrs. Becky Walker; and treasurer, Mrs. Lorraine Youngquist. The class also voted to have a "Work Bee" in the near future to clean the kitchen in Fellowship Hall. This was the last meeting of the class until September 5th.

The Clarendon Home Extension Group from Clarendon and Weidbank attended a tureen dinner at the camp of Mr. and Mrs. Emmett Ecklund at Hermit Springs on Thursday, June 6. There were 15 in attendance to enjoy the delicious dinner, and many thanks were extended to Mr. and Mrs. Ecklund for their kind hospitality and a very pleasant afternoon, some outdoor games were enjoyed. The day came to a close with a short business meeting. Officers for the coming year were elected and also some activities for the future.

Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Anderson, accompanied by three of their grandchildren, spent Memorial Day week end visiting Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Cogar in Masontown, West Virginia.

James Lobdell has returned home from Pittsburgh where he underwent surgery on his hand which had been severely injured recently while he was at work.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Brown from Elma, N. Y., visited his sister, Mrs. Linna Knight on Friday.

The "Golden Agers" will hold their regular meeting at the Center in Saybrook on Tuesday afternoon. They are hoping for a good attendance.

Mr. and Mrs. Matthew Truso and children from Jamestown are spending some time at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Anderson.

4-H Horse Clubs
Schedule Special Work Session

All Warren County 4-H Horse Club members and parents are invited to attend a special work session Saturday, June 15, from 2 to 4 p.m. at Miracle Mountain Ranch, near Spring Creek.

The session will include instruction on how to get the most from your horse in competition show ring procedure, how to correct bad habits and grooming your horse.

Four 30-minute sessions will be conducted simultaneously, which gives opportunity for members to rotate to all four sessions, as all are repeated during four periods.

A hotdog roast follows the final session. Each member brings his own hot dogs and buns.

For those who wish to participate, a trail ride is scheduled for the evening.

Dreamy Chocolate Pie

The billowy clouds of summer skies find their counterpart down here on earth in a new Dreamy Chocolate Pie.

Light marshmallows and fluffy whipped cream are flavored with melted chocolate to create a family treat or a bedtime "special" that will transport your guests! Sunshine Graham Cracker Crumbs flavored with cinnamon go to make the delicious shell.

Creamy Chocolate Pie is delightful and cool and seems to belie the fact that the cook had to spend so little time in her kitchen. An added thought: this is a dessert the children might like to help you make. They're sure to be pleased by the candy bar bit that's part of the filling.

DREAMY CHOCOLATE PIE
1 1/4 cups Sunshine Graham Cracker Crumbs
3 tablespoons sugar
1/4 teaspoon ground cinnamon
1/3 cup butter, melted
6 almond chocolate bars, 13/16 ounce each
1/2 cup milk
20 marshmallows, each snipped into about 8 pieces
1 cup heavy cream, whipped
1/3 cup slivered toasted almonds, optional

Mix crumbs with sugar and cinnamon; blend in butter. Press evenly and firmly over bottom and sides of a 9-inch pie plate, leaving a small standing edge. Refrigerate. Break candy into top of double boiler, add milk and marshmallows. Place over hot water and let melt. Blend well and let it become quite cool, but not firm. Fold in whipped cream and pour into crust. Garnish with slivered almonds, if desired. Refrigerate until set. Yield: 8 servings.

BITTERSWEET FUDGE
12 Hydrox cookies
2 1/4 cups sugar
1 cup light cream
1/16 teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon butter
2 teaspoons light corn syrup
1 tablespoon aromatic bitters

Break cookies into small pieces; set aside. Place remaining ingredients, except bitters, in a 3-quart saucepan. Mix well and boil over moderate heat until temperature reaches 236 degrees, or when a small amount dropped in cold water forms a soft ball. Remove from heat and cool to about 150 degrees, or until bottom of pan is quite warm but not uncomfortable hot to the palm of the hand. Stir in bitters and beat until mixture loses shiny appearance. Stir in broken cookies. Beat until first sign of stiffening. Pour into buttered 8" x 8" cake pan. Cut into squares when cooled and set. Remove from pan to a rack and let dry on undersides. Yield: about 1 1/2 pounds.

It's Vichyssoise time again: And, the quickest way to make this tempting chilled cream soup is to open a can of condensed cream of potato soup; add 1/2 soup can each milk and light cream. Beat until smooth in an electric mixer or blender. Place in refrigerator until frosty cold, at least 4 hours. Serve in chilled bowls. Serves 3.

Rum Tum Ditty: Here's a convenience recipe from Grandmother's time that you'll want to remember for Sunday night supper. Combine 1 can condensed tomato soup, 1/4 cup water, and 1 cup shredded grated sharp Cheddar cheese. Cook over low heat; stir often until cheese is melted. Serve over toast garnished with hard-cooked egg or crisp bacon slices. Serves 3 to 4.

Barbecued Spareribs a la Hapsburg: Arrange 4 pounds spareribs, cut in serving-size pieces, in a roasting pan. Bake at 350 F. for 1 hour; pour off fat. Combine 1 can condensed beef broth, 1 1/2 cups mince meat, and 3 tablespoons vinegar; pour over ribs. Bake 1 1/2 hours more or until done; baste now and then. Serves 4 to 6.

The Shrimp Bowls are coming: When you have a craving for a bowl of beautiful cold soup here's your answer: Combine 1 can frozen condensed cream of shrimp soup, 1 soup can water, 1 tablespoon chopped parsley, 1/2 small clove garlic, minced. Heat until soup is thawed; stir often. Chill at least 4 hours. Serves 2 to 3.

Frank-Potato Delight: Combine 1 can condensed cream of celery soup, 3/4 cup milk, 1/4 cup finely chopped onion, and 2 to 3 teaspoons prepared mustard for sauce mixture. In buttered 1 1/2-quart casserole, arrange alternate layers of 4 cups diced cooked potatoes (about 4 medium), sauce, and 1/2 pound frankfurters, slit lengthwise. Cover; bake in a 400 degree oven 30 minutes. Serves 4.

FROZEN COFFEE DESSERT

Coffee exemplifies Danish hospitality, and when it's frozen into a dessert it's in the tradition of Scandinavian dessert cookery. Brewed coffee and prepared whipped topping go into this Frozen Danish Coffee Dessert, which you can serve spooned or in cubes.

Have a Spot of Coffee --In a Frozen Dessert

The Danes love to eat, especially desserts -- each and every Dane is said to have a sweet tooth or two. Besides their beautiful and irresistible pastries and fruit soups, Danish dinners are markedly fond of offices and creamy frozen desserts. Frozen Danish Coffee Dessert is a Scandinavian-style import. Unlike Italian Granita, which is based on black coffee, this dessert is cafe au lait in color, thanks to blending prepared whipped topping into sweetened brewed Maxwell House Coffee. During freezing, the coffee mixture forms two layers, making it rather unique among frozen desserts.

After freezing, the dessert can be cut in cubes or spooned. Either way it makes a light and different dessert with lots of mellow coffee flavor -- and one that's not too high in calories.

FROZEN DANISH COFFEE DESSERT
1 cup sugar
1 envelope unflavored gelatin
3 cups freshly brewed Maxwell

House Coffee
1/4 cup chocolate syrup
1/4 teaspoon cinnamon
2 cups prepared Dream Whip
Whipped Topping +
+ Or use 1 cup (1/2 pt.) heavy cream, whipped.
Combine sugar and gelatin in a bowl. Add hot coffee; stir until completely dissolved -- about 3 minutes. Stir in chocolate syrup and cinnamon. Place the bowl of gelatin mixture in a larger bowl of ice and water and stir occasionally until thickened. Blend in prepared whipped topping and freeze in a 13 x 9-inch pan until firm -- about 4 hours. Cut in 1/2-inch cubes and serve in sherbet glasses. Garnish with grated semi-sweet chocolate squares, if desired. Makes about 6 cups or 10 to 12 servings.

DANISH COFFEE ICE. Prepare Frozen Danish Coffee Dessert as directed, stirring the mixture after freezing 3 hours. Then continue freezing until firm. Spoon into sherbet glasses to serve. Garnish with cookies or grated semi-sweet chocolate squares, if desired.

Dip Into Spring Delight

Do you spark your guests' interest by having new and exciting "munchables" or do you have appetizer apathy? Make a resolution this spring to add some new recipes to your party collection, thus improving your hostess rating.

Changing seasons and challenging menu ideas go hand-in-hand with preparing appetizers, entrees, or salads to welcome the spring season. And when it comes to entertaining, your menu ideas are even more important.

To get you off to a successful start, here is a fine dip idea that you can add to your recipe file. This recipe calls for zesty American blue cheese, an important ingredient in so many favorite recipes. So, how about having Appetizer Delight at your next party? It's easy to prepare, takes little time and energy, and can be made ahead of time and stored in the refrigerator. After hollowing out a round loaf of rye bread, you can easily blend a combination of shrimp, American blue cheese, cottage cheese, radishes, parsley and green onions and turn it into the

For an appetizing snack anytime, your family will love this dip, too, and so will your luncheon guests.

1 6-oz. round loaf rye bread, unsliced
1-1/2 lbs. shrimp, cooked, shell-on and deveined
3/4 cup American blue cheese (about 4 ounces, crumbled)
2 cups cottage cheese
1/2 cup chopped parsley
1/2 cup grated radishes
1/3 cup chopped green onions
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon white pepper
Dash Worcestershire sauce
Cut slice from top of bread and scoop out center leaving 1/4 inch wall. Chop shrimp, reserving six for garnish. Combine chopped shrimp and remaining ingredients; mix well. Turn into bread shell and garnish with remaining whole shrimp, additional blue cheese and parsley, as desired.

Emergency Menu

Unexpected company drops in often now that the weather has turned warm. And more than likely you'd like to feel free to ask them to stay to supper. You'll never have to question whether there's enough food to go around, if you supply an emergency shelf with ingredients for attractive "throw together" meals.

One good emergency shelf "staple" would be canned stews. Keep a couple of cans of beef and chicken stew on hand. And back up these main dish supplies with canned and frozen accompaniments and additions. Here's a tempting version of beef stew to keep in mind the next time your dinner for four becomes dinner for six. In fact, you might just tuck this recipe next to the canned stews on your pantry shelf.

IMMEDIATE BEEF STEW

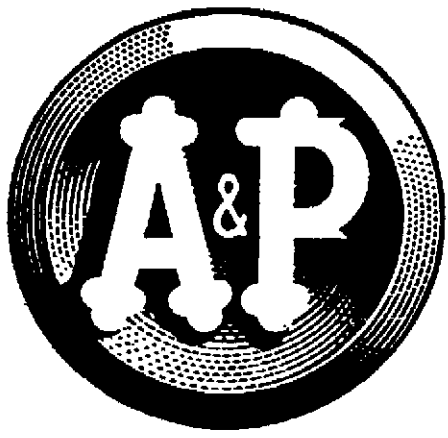

2/3 cup diagonally sliced celery
2 cans (2 ounces each) sliced mushrooms, drained
2 tablespoons dried chopped chives
4 tablespoons butter or margarine
2 cans (19 ounces EACH) beef stew
1 teaspoon Worcestershire
In saucepan, cook celery, mushrooms, and chives in butter until celery is tender. Add remaining ingredients. Heat; stir now and then. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

AROMATIC BITTERS LEND A FILLIP TO THIS FUDGE

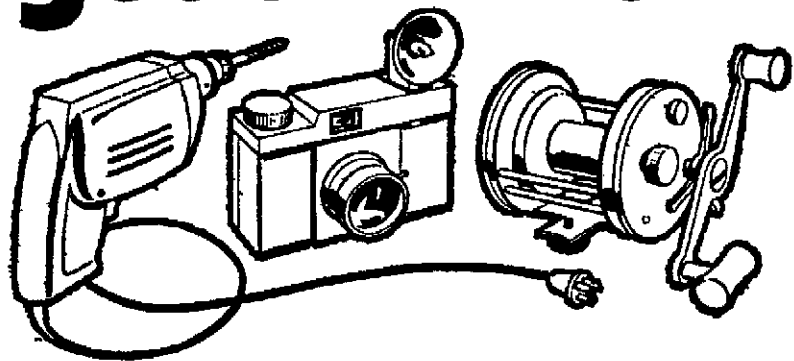

Today's homemaker, though up to her ears in household responsibilities, still likes to entertain and do it with personal flair. Because time is a scarce commodity however, she needs to cut food preparation to a minimum in order to enjoy her friends and relax when party-time comes. One easy answer to finding a treat for, say, an afternoon bridge gathering is a confection spiced with the unusual addition of aromatic bitters. To a simple syrup recipe, just add aromatic bitters and--surprise, again--crushed chocolate creme-filled cookies! Serve with coffee and you'll hear applause.

Come Sunday morning, will you be one of the millions of fathers who are forever amazed?
Will you look at your new fishing reel or power tool or camera...
and wonder:
"How did Mom get the money?"
You'll know she didn't rob a bank...and she didn't sell the car.
Maybe, just maybe, we can give you a hint.
Is Mom an A&P shopper?
Could it be that the savings she makes each week of the year add up to so much?
Why not ask her?
Before you do though, better take a quick look in the garage

Businessman Say Not Enough Police Protection

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Dist. Atty. Robert W. Duggan said Tuesday businessmen in Pittsburgh's Hill District are complaining they aren't getting police protection.

He demanded an explanation from the city's safety director, David W. Craig, and threatened to ask for state police help in enforcing the law. Craig, commenting on the allegations, told newsmen the number of police patrols in the Hill have been increased, but said he has no objection to state police helping out.

Duggan, a Republican, made public a letter he sent to Craig, an official of the city's Democratic administration.

Duggan said Hill merchants asked for state police protection because they received no satisfaction from Craig and complained he "showed a complete lack of interest."

Duggan said policemen assigned to the Hill told merchants "they are acting under orders from the safety director instructing them not to patrol the heart of the Hill at night time but only the perimeter thereof."

Craig branded this a "lie," "it is absolutely untrue," he said, "that policemen have received any orders from me or any police supervisor not to patrol the heart of the Hill."

He said arrest records show people have been arrested on Center Avenue, the Hill's main drag, and elsewhere.

"Although we are doing the job of providing adequate police protection," Craig said, "we have no objection to Mr. Duggan's proposal to obtain state police since we already work closely with the state police in many kinds of law enforcement."

The Hill District was the scene of fire bombings, window smashings and looting after the assassination of civil rights leader Martin Luther King Jr.

Troopers Witness Fatal Collision

MERCER, Pa. (AP) — Three state troopers saw a car and station wagon collision kill a woman Tuesday.

State police said three of their officers were riding on U.S. 19 about five miles south of Mercer when the crash occurred just ahead of them.

They said the station wagon crossed the center of the highway and slammed into the oncoming car.

The car driver, Janet M. Zeller, 25, of Rt. 1, Volant, Lawrence County, was killed.

The station wagon driver, William A. McFarland, 40, also of Rt. 1, Volant, was hospitalized in fair condition.

Learn the seven warning signals of cancer. You'll be in good company.

1. Unusual bleeding or discharge.
2. A lump or thickening in the breast or elsewhere.
3. A sore that does not heal.
4. Change in bowel or bladder habits.
5. Hoarseness or cough.
6. Indigestion or difficulty in swallowing.
7. Change in a wart or mole.

If a signal lasts longer than two weeks, see your doctor without delay.

It makes sense to know the seven warning signals of cancer.

It makes sense to give to the AMERICAN CANCER SOCIETY

Warren YMCA Announces Its Summer Schedule

The Warren YMCA has announced its summer schedule as follows:
Monday through Thursday, 9-10 a. m., boys and girls come.

Blue Cross Asks Monopoly Suit Be Dismissed

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Blue Cross of Western Pennsylvania challenged Tuesday a suit accusing it of monopolizing the hospitalization insurance business by obtaining lower hospital rates for its subscribers.

Blue Cross asked Federal Court to dismiss the suit filed last Jan. 28 by the Travelers Insurance Co. The court has not yet set a hearing date.

The Travelers' suit charged that Blue Cross, with 2.5 million subscribers in Western Pennsylvania, is so big that it can force hospitals to accept its terms.

Hospitals, the suit charged, must make up for the lower rates charged Blue Cross patients by billing other patients more.

"Hospital users, other than Blue Cross subscribers, must pay disproportionately and unfairly inflated prices," the suit said.

Blue Cross, in its answer, said it is a nonprofit organization regulated by the Pennsylvania insurance commissioner.

The agency said the matters complained of by Travelers are "not private activity subject to antitrust laws, but is the action of the State of Pennsylvania to which the antitrust laws do not apply."

The resident camp for boys at YMCA Camp Onyasha on Lake Chautauqua is for boys 8 through 16 and will be held in two periods, August 11-17 and August 18-24. Reservations may still be made for the last week of boys' day camp and for both sessions of resident.

NEW PLAYGROUND READIED

Work is progressing rapidly at the new playground site at Pleasant Township Elementary School scheduled to open at 11 a. m. June 19. Joe Tassone, right, a teacher at Pleasant School, and playground supervisor, assisted by Doug Smith, assistant playground supervisor, install one of four new jungle-gym type climbing pieces. Other new equipment soon to be installed at the new facility includes primary-size swings, a see-saw type bucking bronco and six spring animals. New seats and chains will be installed on the older swing set at the playground and the sliding board has been repaired. The playground will be open to all school aged children in the township. Pre-school aged children must be accompanied by an adult. Schedules for special activities at the new facility will be announced later. (Photo by Mansfield)

"Commuter Bandit's" Sentence Increased

PITTSBURGH (AP) — A judge increased to 30 years Tuesday the prison term for William E. Zeller, the man accused of being the "Commuter Bandit" bank robber.

Zeller received an additional 15-year term for a third bank holdup conviction. The 54-year-old former North Side grocer was convicted and sentenced last winter on two bank robbery counts. The latest sentence was for the $14,040 holdup at a Pittsburgh National Bank office in Pittsburgh's Carrick section on Aug. 24, 1964.

Sentencing is being delayed for Richard P. Chiozza, 27, convicted of furnishing the getaway car. He is recovering after being mysteriously shot at his car repair shop last week. Zeller told U.S. District Court Judge Rabe F. Marsh he's been working in the carpenter shop at the federal penitentiary at Lewisburg. He also said he's studying electronics. Zeller will not be eligible for parole until 1978.

James P. McKenna, Zeller's defense lawyer, said he would appeal.

McKenna said Zeller's wife and four children are living on relief. The 16 robberies attributed to the "Commuter Bandit" netted $171,000.

Dr. Yoder Accepting Job Offers

HARRISBURG (AP) — Dr. Norman Yoder, dismissed as Pennsylvania's commissioner for the blind in the wake of the celebrated LSD hoax, said Tuesday he was receptive to all job offers in private industry.

But, he commented in a telephone interview, he would prefer to remain in the Central Pennsylvania area around Harrisburg so as to retain ties with his friends and his community.

It was announced from Cleveland, Ohio, Monday that Yoder had been offered a job as director of staff development with the Cleveland Society for the Blind.

"This is one of the oldest and finest private agencies for the blind in this country," Yoder said. "I certainly do not intend to turn down the Cleveland proposition."

"But I am hoping I can find employment in the Hershey-Palmira area. I've been here 12 years. My family has been here. We have ties in the community we would not like to break."

Yoder, who is blind, was dismissed from his $20,629 position in the state Department of Public Welfare last February by Gov. Shafer after admitting that he had made up the story of six college students who allegedly were blinded by the sun while under the influence of LSD.

Histenure with the state officially ended Monday with the expiration of his accumulated sick leave and vacation time.

Yoder sought psychiatric care in a Philadelphia hospital after confessing the hoax to Atty. Gen. William C. Sennett. Sennett said Yoder told him he was motivated by a desire to alert young people to the dangers of drugs.

Japanese Ask Base be Moved

TOKYO—Japan decided Tuesday to ask the United States to transfer a Strategic Air Base from the City of Fukuoka, on the island of Kyushu, to a site further away from a major population area.

The decision resulted from opposition to the base by local residents, and is the first such move affecting American forces stationed here since 1952 under a Mutual Security Treaty.

Tuesday's decision was made at a cabinet ministers' meeting dealing with military affairs and foreign relations. Premier Eisaku Sato and Foreign Minister Takeo Miki were among the 11 members of the 19-man cabinet present at the meeting, said to have been called on short notice to deal with a wave of anti-American feeling in Japan following the crash of a U.S. Air Force plane on the campus of Kyushu University.

The accident occurred June 2 when the plane, an F-4C phantom jet on a training flight out of the Itazuke Strategic Air Base, hit a partially constructed laboratory on the campus, which is situated in Fukuoka, a city of 813,000 population. The Itazuke Base is within the city.

No one was hurt in the crash, which took place about 11 p. m., when the campus was deserted.

The plane's two-man crew had bailed out safely after the craft developed a defect.

The accident inflamed anti-American feelings already smoldering over visits to Japan by the nuclear-powered aircraft carrier Enterprise, as well as by nuclear submarines earlier this year.

The Japanese, following the atomic bombing of Hiroshima and Nagasaki by the U.S. in World War II, are particularly sensitive to the presence of nuclear weapons and machinery on their soil.

Demands to the government for the removal of American bases, or drastic curtailment of their operations, have come from city mayors, municipal assemblies and top Japanese scientists during the past week.

The U.S. maintains in Japan six major air fields, two naval bases and numerous lesser facilities, manned by about 36,000 personnel.
